Council Votes $8,500 to Finish Walks

Aldermen Approve $660,000 for Water

Pressure and Mains In Project, Sewers Next Consideration

A bond issue of $660,000 for improvement of city water service was approved unanimously by the Common Council Tuesday night.

The project, announced some time ago by the water department, as part of a long-range improvement program, calls for enlargement of main conduits and others in and out of the city, to increase pressure and generally improve the system.

Majority Leader John Machione (R) 12th Ward in asking all-out support of the bond sum, also proposed that "since we have asked for improvement of the water system," that the city clerk contact the Board of Public Works requesting that "it look into" improvement of city sewers.

Machione said he had learned of "open sewers" in the city, and he proposed that the health board be asked to investigate such conditions. Other sewers, he said, need improvement.

To Improve Service

The majority leader noted that it was the first in a long time that the water department had asked for such a major improvement, but it will mean a substantial gain in water pressure and service.

Alderman Robert Gallo (D) Ninth Ward, said Democratic aldermen in the past have "always been in favor" of water system improvements, and a Republican administration had vetoed a measure calling for such improvements. He urged all of the aldermen to support the measure as submitted last night.

Machione held that "not too many years ago the council had nine Democrats," and he recalled nothing being done about water system improvements.

Notes $73,000 for 13th

William G. Davis (D-Lib) 13th Ward, indicated he had previously not been in favor of the water department program because it allowed "not one penny" for improvement in his ward. He was now satisfied, he said, because it appears that some $73,000 is to be spent for improvements in the ward.

The water department some two years ago outlined a long-range improvement program in several phases, which would have required a $1,335,000 bond issue. This was not approved in lump sum, and it was since decided to improve the system one phase at a time.

The improvement program was proposed after a survey by Clinton Bogert Associates, of New York, consulting engineers.

Baltimore Is Preparing for Negro Riots

BALTIMORE (AP) — City police and National Guard officers began preparing today for the possibility of riots among Baltimore's 358,000 Negroes.

Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin and Gov. J. Millard Tawes announced Tuesday they had been warned of the impending arrival of out-of-town agitators bent on starting a riot.

Neither would identify the would-be agents of disorder, except to say they were members of a group "which openly advocates violence."

The state adjutant general, Milton A. Reckford, said he would have a battalion of National Guard troops alerted this weekend.

Police commissioner Bernard Schmidt said the city's 3,000 police would be ready, "but I hope we won't need them."

McKeldin and Tawes, in a joint statement, said the source of their information "has a reputation of reliability and accuracy."

They said there has been a

Claim Pilot Now Flying Back to U.S.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — U.S. Navy jet pilot Charles F. Klusmann, shot down three months ago by Laotian Communists, has escaped from his barbed wire prison and reached the safety of an American air base at Udorn, in friendly Thailand.

After receiving preliminary medical attention, food and clean clothing, the 30-year-old lieutenant was flown today to an undisclosed destination.

Details of the escape have not yet been made public.

The U.S. Embassy in Bangkok said Klusmann was being flown to the United States.

At their home in San Diego, Calif., Klusmann's wife, Sarah, said she was "absolutely elated" but not surprised by his escape. "What I said in the beginning of all this was that if anyone can get out, he can," she said. "He has been through the survival school that all Navy aviators go through."

The embassy said Klusmann appeared to be "in relatively good physical condition." The escape was first disclosed by the White House in Washington Tuesday afternoon.

Klusmann was on a photo reconnaissance flight in his unarmed Crusader jet over the Communist-held Plaine des Jarres in central Laos last June 6 when Pathet Lao gunfire brought him down. He was based on the U.S. aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk.

Injured Knee

He parachuted safely but wrenched a knee in landing. Klusmann waved off a rescue helicopter, as Pathet Lao ground forces were closing in. The pilot was last seen surrounded by Communist soldiers.

Last month, eight letters from Klusmann were forwarded to his wife by the Red Cross. The pilot did not say where he was being held, but that he was kept in a mud-walled hut, 12 by 20 feet, and its thatched roof leaked in the rain.

Jungle Route

Klusmann said his knee was treated by the Communists.

His presumed escape route would have taken him through dense jungle, and areas with mountains reaching to 9,000 feet.

Udorn, where Klusmann arrived Tuesday, is 40 miles south of the Laos-Thailand border and approximately 140 miles south-southwest of the Plaine des Jarres.

Roll Call Shows 11-1, Refuse Area Measure Left With Committee

A $6,000 bond sum for sidewalks and curbing near the new John F. Kennedy School at Hasbrouck Park and another of $2,500 for finishing Mary's Avenue sidewalk near the Sophie G. Finn School were approved by a Common Council vote of 11-1 Tuesday night with one alderman absent.

Left with the Laws and Rules Committee was a resolution by Anthony J. Alecca (R) Fifth Ward, striking at the refuse disposal project in his ward, and asking, in part, that Corporation Counsel Harry Gold notify owners of land to be used that contracts for sale were entered into without consent of the Common Council.

Also approved was a revenue anticipation note for $180,000 requested by City Treasurer M. G. Richardson to cover city expenses for the balance of the year pending collection of unpaid taxes and other sums due.

An amendment to the zoning ordinance to permit erection of signs in commercial areas to measure 325, instead of the now permitted 50 square feet, was approved, and left with the Laws and Rules Committee was a petition for a zoning change that would permit the building of a new boat basin dock on Abeel Street near the city line.

Much Bickering

Lengthened by the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, which is usually dispensed with, the meeting was marked by bickering over the sidewalk and curbing bond issues, and shouts for points of order.

The reading took over an hour, with City Clerk Walter S. Foster, gaining a slight respite near the end. It was requested by Alderman John J. Naccarato (R) Third Ward, who indicated he wanted the large attendance (about 100) to realize the extent of council meeting dockets.

Alderman Donald P. Tucker (R) Fourth Ward, still favoring a 75-25 per cent assessment for the downtown sidewalk and curb project, was the one alderman remaining opposed. Edward J. Schrowang (R) First Ward, was absent.

Aldermen, who changed their vote since last action on the sidewalk and curb measures, said they were abiding by the opinion of Corporation Counsel Harry Gold, which, in effect, held that 100 per cent assessment is required by charter provision against property holders for such installitions.

Gold noted he was in error when he had previously indicated that the Board of Public Works had discretionary power in fixing the assessment either at 100 per cent against property holders or 75 per cent with the city paying 25 per cent.

Opinion Follows Inquiry

His opinion followed an inquiry by Alderman Edward Norton (D) Seventh Ward, who said he had been led to believe that the BPW "may" decide the percentage of assessment, and Alderman John Machione (R) 12th Ward, Majority Leader, asked that the corporation counsel be called upon for an opinion.

Alderman Alecca, as the session was about to end near midnight, sought to gain a 15-minute recess, which could lead to a vote on his resolution in opposition to the Fifth Ward refuse disposal project, but it was decided that the committee would require more time to study it.

A waiving of rule was required to permit reading of the resolution, which said in effect, that the mayor had entered into contracts with owners of three parcels near the former Kingston Point lagoon, and one owned by Bernard Wolper (of New York) is being improved by expenditure of public monies without consent of the council "expressed or implied," and asked that it be resolved that:

1. That the corporation counsel be directed to notify owners of the private property involved

Anti-CR Dem Loses Michigan Primary

DETROIT (AP) — Rep. John Lesinski, D-Mich., the only Northern Democrat who voted against the civil rights bill, was rejected Tuesday in the Michigan primary by voters in a district where expected so-called white backlash did not significantly materialize.

His defeat by Rep. John Dingell in their reapportioned district shared the spotlight with an upset victory by Republican Elly Peterson, first Michigan woman ever to win a major party U.S. Senate nomination.

Overshadowed was Republican Gov. George Romney's nearly 8-to-1 renomination margin over a more conservative GOP opponent.

Lesinski, a congressman since 1951, could roll up only a narrow margin in the well-to-do portion of the 16th District, then fell steadily behind as returns came from Detroit Negro and white suburban areas.

If Lesinski, running in what was essentially his own previous district, did pick up any backlash, it wasn't nearly enough.

However, Detroit voters approved a "homeowners' rights" ordinance that seemed a reaction against open housing sought by civil rights advocates.

The role of backlash — reaction against Negro civil rights activity — is viewed as a major question mark in the 1964 presidential campaign.

List Totals

With 4,851 of the state's 5,209 precincts reporting, the key statewide votes stood:

Governor — Romney 544,533, George Higgins 74,808, unopposed Democrat Rep. Neil Staebler 469,401.

U.S. Senate — Mrs. Peterson 204,726, James O'Neil 176,621, Edward Meany 142,146, unop-

Keating Appeals To Labor on His Record of Voting

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, Republican candidate for re-election, has appealed for support by the New York State AFL-CIO "on only one basis — my voting record and my record of service to the people of New York and the nation."

Keating, making his first speech since renomination, spoke Tuesday before 1,500 delegates at the annual convention of the state AFL-CIO which has about two million members.

He was applauded eight times during the speech. Many of the delegates stood to applaud at the end. There were no cheers.

Keating had drawn laughter at the start of his speech by saying with a smile: "I know there are places where Republicans are not the most popular people."

Signs Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed today the $1,131,800,000 bill to continue and expand various housing programs and said it would benefit all America.

Dozens of members of Congress crowded into the Caibnet Room for the ceremony.

Johnson said there was a commitment to assure every American an opportunity to live in a decent home and a safe and decent neighborhood.

Johnson, Humphrey On Ballots in Iowa

DES MOINES (AP) — Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst accepted today the certification of Democratic President Johnson and vice-presidential candidate Hubert Humphrey for the Nov. 3 Iowa election ballot.

He said he had decided to "take the bull by the horns" and instruct the printer to put the names on the Iowa ballot, even though the certification was filed after the deadline set by law.

He said the decision was his alone, reached without consultation with any other state officials or political leaders.

Prefers Merits

Elections, Synhorst said, should be decided on their merits and not on technicalities.

Synhorst's announcement was a surprise to both Democratic and Republican leaders. Earlier, Synhorst, a Republican, had indicated he would await a ruling by Iowa Atty. Gen. Evan Hultman as to whether he could accept the certification and place the names on the ballot.

Hultman, also a Republican, had indicated he felt the courts should settle the matter.

Synhorst told a news conference there might not be time for a court decision, since by law he is required to certify the ballot to the county auditors 55 days in advance of the election, or on Sept. 9.

Can Be Challenged

He said his action would not close out court action as a remedy to anyone who wants to challenge the action in court.

Synhorst had the Johnson-Humphrey certification papers in hand after they were filed late Tuesday about 24 hours late by officials of the Democratic State Central Committee. Whether they would be accepted apparently hinged on a lienent interpretation of the certification law.

Buffalo Mayor Sees RFK Threat To State Demos

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — The mayor of Niagara Falls, a Democrat, says "the best thing" for the party's New York State organization would be the "overwhelming defeat of its U. S. Senatorial candidate, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Mayor E. Dent Lackey said Tuesday he would not support Kennedy, who was nominated by the Democratic State Convention to oppose Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating.

Lackey, obviously angered by the Niagara County delegation's decision Monday night to back Kennedy instead of Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Amsterdam, flew home from New York City. He had intended to attend the convention there as an observer.

Before Kennedy had been mentioned as a possible nominee, the executive committee of the county committee had recommended that the delegates back Stratton.

"I was against Mr. Kennedy's candidacy on the basis of principle, and his nomination in no way changes that principle," Lackey said.

"The best thing that could happen to the Democratic Party

Ulster Delegates Vote 7-0 for RFK At Demo Parley

Ulster County's seven-member delegation voted unanimously, 7-0, for the nomination of Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy for U. S. Senator from New York at the New York State Democratic convention in New York Tuesday.

Headed by county chairman Aaron E. Klein, the Ulster delegation also included Rose Hogan, vice chairman; John J. Schick, chairman of the executive committee; Joseph Steckler, George Majestic, James M. McCardle, city Democratic chairman; and Robert Davis.

Charles J. Tiano, secretary of the Ulster County central committee, was a delegate but did not attend the convention. His vote for Kennedy was cast by Davis as the alternate.

In the state committee meeting called to qualify Kennedy as a candidate, the county's two representatives split, Jack Bagliebter of Ellenville voted yes, but state committee woman Harriet Allen Kerr of New Paltz voted no.

Under state committee rules, a candidate for senator who is not an enrolled member of the Democratic party in New York state must be certified by the committee. The vote of the 300-member committee was 232 yes, 49 no, with 19 abstentions or absentees.

Mrs. Kerr was not a delegate to the convention. Her re-election as state committeeman in this year's primary is being contested by Mrs. Dorothy A. Narel of West Hurley with the case due to be heard by the Appellate Division in the near future.

Soviets Accuse China of Claiming Land of Theirs

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today accused the Red Chinese of laying claim to a parcel of Soviet territory almost twice as big as Texas.

The accusation was made by the official Communist party newspaper Pravda, which declared in an editorial: "We are faced with an openly expansionist program with far reaching pretensions."

Pravda said the Chinese repeatedly have published maps that allege China has a historic claim not only to vast amounts of Soviet territory, but also to Burma, Viet Nam, Korea, Thailand, Malaya, Nepal, Bhutan and Sikkim.

And, Pravda added, Peking wants to turn Mongolia into a Chinese province.

According to Pravda, the Chinese claim more than 500,000 square miles of Soviet territory. (Texas has an area of 267,339 square miles).

School Tax Bills Will Be Mailed on Monday, Sept. 14

The school tax rates for the City of Kingston and the school districts within the Kingston School District, Consolidated, have been established for the school year 1964-65. The first payment will become due September 15.

The tax rate for Kingston City based on assessed valuation will be $40.209 per $1,000 of assessment, approximately 75 cents greater than the last year. This rate is based on an assessed valuation of $43,737,306, and the amount to be raised in the city for school purposes totals $1,758,626.34. The City of Kingston has a 35 per cent equalization rate based on a total valuation of $124,963,731.

Tax rates in other towns within the Consolidated District are:

Town	Last Yr.	This Yr.
Esopus	$ 69.042	$ 78.184
Hurley	72.676	70.366
Kingston	55.284	61.186
Marbletown	40.613	66.852
New Paltz	92.056	82.917
Rosendale	106.218	117.276
Saugerties	92.056	93.798
Ulster	92.056	93.821
Woodstock	98.631	100.524

The total amount to be raised in the townships which have school districts in the Consolidated District is $1,725,050.66, which with the amounts to be raised on property of the City of Kingston, accounts for the total of $3,483,677 to be raised for school costs in the Kingston School District, Consolidated.

The special equalization rates in the various townships of the Consolidated District are:

Esopus 18, Hurley 20, Kingstown Town 23, Marbletown 21, New Paltz 17, Rosendale 12, Saugerties 15, Ulster 15 and Woodstock 14. Kingston's rate is 35.

School tax bills will go out in the mails on September 14. The first payment will become due September 15 and may be paid without interest until October 15. The second half payment may be made until December 15 without additional interest.

Since the Kingston School District, Consolidated, has been established it has become necessary to await the fixing of the special equalization rate by the state before tax bills can be made out. Prior to consolidation school tax bill were made out and the tax became payable in August.

After Crushing Defeat by Kennedy, Stratton to Try Again for Congress

NEW YORK (AP) — "I accept the verdict of this convention," Rep. Samuel S. Stratton said with his wife standing by his side on the rostrum.

With that statement, he acknowledged a crushing defeat Tuesday at the hands of a Democratic State Convention that had rejected him and given its U.S. Senate nomination to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Stratton said he would return to Amsterdam in upstate New York and fight for a new term in Congress from the 35th Congressional District.

He carried his fight right to the convention floor, although it had been apparent to most observers for many days that Kennedy was unbeatable because of strong support he commanded among New York City party leaders.

But Stratton kept fighting.

At every opportunity, he asserted the party would be making a serious mistake by going outside of New York to choose the attorney general, despite his famous name.

When he appeared before the convention to concede defeat, Stratton congratulated Kennedy on his victory but did not specifically pledge to support him.

Nor did Stratton follow the tradition in which the loser asks the convention to make the vote unanimous in favor of the winner and it stood at 968-153.

Stratton said he had waged his fight against Kennedy on principles and he still stood by those principles.

He had argued that the party was admitting weakness by going outside the state for a candidate and was setting a precedent for use of England's "rotten borough" system in the United States.

For weeks, Stratton echoed the "carpetbagger" charges that Republicans have brought against Kennedy and are expected to be the chief campaign attack against the attorney general.

Stratton's name was placed in nomination by Rep. Otis G. Pike of Suffolk County.

Pike's speech was considered one of the best at the convention.

He said the idea that "a great name" would guarantee victory had been exploded in 1962, when the Democrats nominated Robert M. Morgenthau, son of Henry Morgenthau, U.S. treasury secretary in the New Deal.

"Our leaders whipped out a well-known name, the illustrious son of an illustrious father and we took one of the most illustrious shellackings of our illustrious history," Pike said.

While Stratton did not join the pledges of support to Kennedy, there was no indication that his forces plan to follow through with their previous promise to challenge Kennedy's nomination in the courts on grounds of non-residency.

Stratton appeared to eliminate that possibility when he said that "I accept the verdict of this convention."

Blaze Destroys Brooding House On Turkey Farm

Fire destroyed a large brooding house on the Berkshire Turkey Farm at Hillsdale on Tuesday, and 20,000 turkeys perished in the flames. The 40-by-400-foot building burned to the ground.

William Anderson, business manager of the farm owned by Nathaniel E. Hess of Hillsdale, said the brooding house was constructed recently at a cost of approximately $50,000 and the turkeys lost in the fire were worth another $50,000.

Fire Chief Ezra Link of Craryville, was in charge of fire units from that district and Churchtown. He said the building was mostly involved in flames when firemen arrived at the scene. There was some speculation the fire might have been caused by lightning.

According to reports, Berkshire farm is the largest turkey farm in New York State and one of the largest in the country. The turkeys were being raised for the Christmas-New Year holidays.

Harlem Residents Not Surprised as Jury Frees Officer

NEW YORK (AP) — Harlem residents who reacted so violently to a white policeman's fatal shooting of a 15-year-old Negro boy in mid-July displayed little outward emotion today to a grand jury's refusal to indict the officer.

The average reaction was disappointment, but not surprise as word spread through the Negro community that the New York County grand jury decided Tuesday Lt. Thomas R. Gilligan was not criminally liable for shooting James Powell to death.

The youth was killed July 16 in front of an apartment building in the Yorkville section, two miles from Harlem. Many considered it an act of police brutality and the fuse that touched off four days of rioting and looting by Negroes two days later in Harlem.

One man was killed and violence spread to Brooklyn's predominantly Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant section for three days.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan prepared a 14-page news report on the case. It digested 1,600 pages of often contradictory testimony given in secret by 45 witnesses at 15 jury sessions.

Negro leaders generally were critical of the report. James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), said CORE would issue its own report.

Police reports said Powell was shot after he lunged at Gilligan with a knife. Gilligan was off duty and in civilian clothes.

Thruway's Name Changed Tuesday With Dewey Signs

Eight signs were erected yesterday welcoming motorists to the Governor Thomas E. Dewey Thruway, as the name of the New York State Thruway was officially changed. The new signs cost $8,500 and are lettered in white on half-inch plywood painted dark blue.

The new name for the world's largest toll road was approved by the Legislature last year, as a tribute to former Governor Dewey, who was instrumental in the construction of the 559-mile superhighway.

The State Thruway Authority reported the signs were placed at five spots where the Thruway connects with turnpikes and highways of adjoining states.

Union Label Week

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —Gov. Rockefeller, citing the union label as "a symbol of labor's progress," has proclaimed Sept. 7-13 "Union Label Week" in New York State.

Rockefeller, in a statement issued Tuesday by his office, linked the union label with "good workmanship, for articles made in decent, sanitary surroundings by men and women who respect themselves and their work and enjoy the respect of the community."

An Associated Press Series

Views of President Johnson Presented on Various Issues

The views of President Lyndon B. Johnson on a variety of topical issues is being presented in a series of articles complied by the Associated Press.

The opinions expressed have been taken from the President's speechs, magazine articles, news conferences and other public remarks and messages. The second installment today includes his stand on defense and disarmament.

The next part will cover economy and taxes, education, foreign aid and foreign policy.

DEFENSE

In a Senate speech, July 12, 1950, speaking of the Korean War which had just broken out, Johnson said:

"There is no cheap way out.

"There is, in fact, no way out short of total victory.

"We cannot compromise; we cannot escape; we cannot continue to retreat.

"For too long, we have been more interested in making our books balance than in making our strength balance against the military power of communism."

In an interview in U.S. News & World Report in April 1952, Johnson complained again about economy efforts hurting defense. He said:

"But in the field of aircraft production, I think it is fair to say we have lost almost three years as a result of the 1948 decision to impound funds that Congress appropriated to keep the plants tooled up and productive.

"There's enough blame to go around. The decision to impound funds was a mistake. The decision by Congress a year later not to carry through on the issue was another mistake, and the failure of the country to rise up and insist that Congress take the leadership was still another."

In a Senate speech Jan. 23, 1958, Johnson said:

"There can be no adequate defense for the United States except in a reservoir of trained and educated minds.

"Even more important, however, is the fact that there can be no security for the United States or any other country in weapons. The most accurate and destructive missile yet conceived can bring us nothing but a stalemate.

"We prefer a stalemate to defeat and slavery. Let there be no mistake about that."

In a speech April 20, 1961, to the annual meeting of The Associated Press in New York, he said:

"Since Korea we have labored to build a military strength of unmatched might. We have succeeded. If the threat of war has lessened, it is largely because our opponents realize attack would bring destruction. This effort has been mostly. But the costs of weakness are far greater than the costs of strength, and the payment was far more painful. That is why, in the last three years, your government has strengthened the whole range of America's defenses — increasing defense spending by $17 billion."

DISARMAMENT

In a speech June 8, 1957, to the annual conference of the United Jewish Appeal in New York, Johnson said:

"The intercontinental ballistic missile with a hydrogen warhead is just over the horizon. It is no longer just the disorderly dream of some science-fiction writer.

"We must assume that our country will have no monopoly on this weapon. The Soviets have not matched our achievements in democracy and prosperity; but they have kept pace with us in building the tools of destruction.

"We must initiate action on five objectives, each contributing to our crusade for disarmament:

"1. Controlled reduction of military forces by all countries.

"2. A start on a mutual 'open skies,' foolproof inspection system.

"3. A frank and open search for a method of suspending tests of the biggest nuclear weapons, under airtight conditions which give full protection against violations.

"4. A reduction of everyone's stockpile of nuclear weapons and means for delivery under copper-riveted methods of mutual inspection.

"5. And this is the key to ultimate hope: A worldwide agreement—backed by absolute safeguards — that no nation will make any new fissionable materials for weapons purposes — neither the three present nuclear powers nor those who may soon have the capacity."

On Jan. 21, 1964, President Johnson commented over nationwide television on the disarmament conference in Geneva:

"Agreement on the control and reduction and the ultimate abolition of weapons and war is not impossible as it seemed for so many years. We now have a limited nuclear test ban treaty. We now have an emergency communication link, a hot line between Washington and Moscow. We now have an agreement in the United Nations to keep bombs out of outer space.

"These are all small steps, but they go in the right direction, the direction of security and sanity and peace. Now we must go further."

Subject: $25,000 Payoff Charge

Senate Leaders Cautious About Reopening on Baker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders moved cautiously today in the wake of a demand for reopening the Bobby Baker case to investigate a charge of a $25,000 payoff earmarked for Kennedy-Johnson campaign funds in 1960.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he would take the matter up with the Senate Democratic policy committee "in the near future." He declined further comment.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the GOP leader, said there should be an investigation but cited a number of factors that he felt would prevent any early action.

"It certainly comes at an awkward time," Dirksen commented, noting that many senators want to get away to campaign.

Dirksen said he had conferred briefly with Mansfield and would talk with him again after the Democratic policy committee meets.

The Baker case exploded anew in the Senate Tuesday when Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said in a speech that he had evidence of a $35,000 payoff he said was made by Matthew H. McCloskey Jr., Philadelphia contractor, on the Washington, D.C., Stadium contract.

McCloskey, finance chairman of the Democratic National Committee at the time could not be reached for comment. He resigned several weeks ago as ambassador to Ireland.

Williams told his colleagues that $10,000 of the $35,000 went to Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent, and that, according to Reynolds, $25,000 was turned over to Baker for "a contribution to the Johnson-Kennedy campaign fund of 1960."

The senator called it a conspiracy in which "several laws were violated" and demanded an immediate reopening of the investigation into how Baker built up a claimed fortune of over $2 million while serving as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

Baker resigned his $19,600-a-year Senate post last Oct. 7 after questions were raised by Williams and others about his outside business dealings. He refused to testify at an investigation conducted by the Senate Rules Committee.

Williams displayed a copy of a $109,205.60 check that he said McCloskey had sent to Reynolds on Oct. 17, 1960.

He said this represented an overpayment of $35,574.32 on the amount due Reynolds as insurance broker on the performance bond McCloskey posted on the stadium contract. He referred to it variously as a "kickback" and a "payoff."

"This $35,000 additional payoff on this stadium contract was arranged for the express purpose of channeling a $25,000 political contribution into the Democratic campaign fund and to charge this $25,000 contribution as a business expense item on a government contract," Williams said.

Miller Girls Due For Look Today At Arizona State

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Republican vice presidential candidate William Miller's eldest daughters were to get a bird's eye view of Arizona today.

Elizabeth Anne, 20, and Mary Karen, 17, were to be taken on an aerial tour of the state by GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater's two sons.

Barry Jr., 26, a licensed pilot, was to do the flying and Mike, 21, was to act as guide on the 800-mile trip.

The tour included the Grand Canyon, Oak Creek Canyon, Glen Canyon Dam and Utah's Monument Valley.

"We're really excited about our Arizona visit," said Elizabeth Tuesday as she and her sister alighted at Phoenix Sky Harbor Airport after a flight from Buffalo, N.Y.

Thursday they'll travel to Prescott, Ariz., where Sen. Goldwater officially kicks off his campaign.

After the Prescott festivities, the Miller girls will fly to Lockport, N.Y., where their father opens his campaign Saturday.

Burglar Loses $5, Caught

ROME, N. Y. (AP) — A burglar broke into the Rome Coal Co. — got 22 cents — and lost $5.

Ambros Czajkowski, manager of the firm, discovered the burglary Sunday and reported to police that 22 pennies were missing from an open safe.

Police found a wallet containing $5 with the name and address of its owner next to the safe. When they contacted the owner he readily admitted the burglary. There were no charges.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 2, 1964

FUTURE IS WORTH IT

Twenty-five years ago, on September 1, Nazi panzers crashed across the Polish border. Within two days, Britain and France declared war on Germany and for the second time in a generation, Europe was plunged into the madness of war.

It is interesting to note that only a week before this anniversary, the French were observing the 20th anniversary of the liberation of Paris—August 23, 1944.

And only three months ago, hundreds of veterans, from generals to privates, had returned to France to wander over the beaches and hedgerow-bordered fields of Normandy as they relived and retold the story of that famous D-Day 20 years before.

It is more than just a coincidence of the calendar, however, or our decimal method of reckoning numbers, that has us commemorating so closely together these epochal events which actually occurred five years—and millions of lives—apart. It has to do with the nature of history itself.

It is as if a traveler were looking back down a long road he had walked. Huge landmarks that were miles apart are now shrunken and merged together into the flat background. So it is when we look back on history.

It is difficult now to comprehend the real distance between September 1, 1939, and June 6 or August 23, 1944. We know that five crowded years separated them, but even those who lived through those war years now find it hard to remember just how long they were and, at times, how hopeless.

It is just as difficult when we try to look ahead. There is the same trick of perspective. The horizon appears flat, and the richness and color of life, the infinite variety and promise of the landscape ahead, cannot always be seen.

Sometimes obstacles loom large in our path and obscure the view. We think we will never overcome them and sometimes wonder if the future is worth the effort.

For all men knew in 1939, mankind was entering a chasm it might never emerge from. It might have been avoided had man had the wisdom to take different turnings years before. But in 1939 there was no choice for free men.

We are the heirs of those who fought and died and triumphed over the forces of hate and antilife in World War II. Because of them, we are across that great chasm, and though the way ahead is still dangerous and edged with precipices, we are in sight of broader, greener uplands than men have ever known.

SIGHT SAVING DRIVE

September is "Sight-Saving Month" throughout the United States. During this month, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness seeks to remind every man, woman and child in America of the constant threat that disease, accidents and neglect pose for their one and only set of eyes.

President Lyndon Johnson has said of the "Sight-Saving Month" campaign:

"It calls attention to the fact that the precious gift of sight could have been saved for no fewer than 200,000 Americans—half of those who are now blind. This tragic loss can and must be reduced through additional research and continuing public education."

Half of all blindness is indeed preventable. While research may be the key to preventing blindness for future millions, there is much that each of us can do right now for himself and his family. Learn the facts of good eye health and safety. Schedule eye examinations for yourself and your family, particularly the child about to enter school. Support community preventive programs of the National Society.

The Society reminds you: "Your eyes are windows on the world." Keep them clear and bright.

It'll soon be back to school for kiddies—and back to a second cup of breakfast coffee for Mom.

South Viet Nam's Shaky Regime

By RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The new caretaker government of South Viet Nam will be hard put to hold together for the two months it's scheduled to exist—unless it has liberal shots of U.S. bolstering.

Such strong U.S. backing, in turn, may stir up more under-the-surface resentment against the United States.

Dr. Nguyen Xuen Oanh, the Harvard-educated temporary premier, has no political base in South Viet Nam. He has lived most of his adult life in the United States. He returned to Viet Nam a year ago after being away 18 years out of the past 20. Political and military Vietnamese I talked to in Saigon recently called him "The American."

Though he's an able economic technician, they said, he has little knowledge of Viet Nam or of political administration.

These Vietnamese felt that he had been made deputy premier for economics (his post until recently) because of his American connections. But Oanh's "Americanism" is the least of the problems the ruling military triumvirate faces.

The Revolutionary Military Council appointed former Chief of State Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, "President" Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh and Defense Minister Lt. Gen. Tran Thien Khiem a three-man group to run the country, with Khanh as nominal head. They are to act for two months until a National Assembly selects a president. Presumably the triumvirate will pick the National Assembly or decide how it is to be chosen.

The three generals who compose the ruling triumvirate have been maneuvering against each other for months.

A high Vietnamese official in Saigon told me that Khanh and Minh are not exactly friends. Other officials echoed this statement.

Khiem, third member of the triumvirate, has been at work for some time putting his men in strategic government positions. Key officials in the major ministries have been reporting to Khiem regularly as well as to their own ministers.

During the past months, Khiem has on various occasions countermanded Khanh's military, political and foreign policy orders, both when Khanh was prime minister and after he became president.

Khiem has seen to it that men loyal to Minh and to Khanh have been gradually shifted from positions of power to places where they would wield less influence in a crisis.

One example is an outstanding general close to Khanh. He was a key man in the Revolutionary Military Council and head of South Viet Nam internal security. Recently, though his abilities are badly needed in Viet Nam, he was appointed ambassador to the Chinese Nationalist government in Formosa. Government officials I talked to called it "exile" aimed at getting him out of the way.

The strong man of the military triumvirate is undoubtedly Khiem. Americans who know him say he has brains, ambition and an ability for showmanship. Americans and Vietnamese I've talked to either liked him strongly or disliked him fervently.

Minh, a big (6 ft.), genial, likeable, war hero, takes life easy. Khanh says of him, "All he likes to do is play tennis."

Khanh has alienated many Vietnamese by his inability to make decisions and carry them through.

The Doctor's Mailbag

If You Itch Then Scratch—But Know How to Do It

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Itching is a type of pain that afflicts everyone at times and some people a great deal of the time. It is said that Napoleon itched so much that at a critical moment of one battle he turned over the command to a subordinate, withdrew from the scene, took off his clothes and rolled on a straw-covered floor while orderlies scratched his skin until it bled. Even then he kept shouting at them to scratch harder.

Obviously, this is not the best way to treat an itching skin. Dr. Samuel Ayres Jr. of Los Angeles says that scratching is an art and, and he recommends that everyone learn the proper technique. You must first learn to differentiate between the point of maximum itching and the itchy skin that surrounds it. The point of maximum intensity may be caused by an insect bite, an allergy (hives) or some other irritant.

If you scratch yourself at this point you release certain chemicals in the tissues that aggravate your problem, so you must learn to leave the central point alone and rub the surrounding area gently with your hand. Even better results can be achieved by brushing this area with a medium-hard brush. I save my discarded toothbrushes for this and other purposes.

Scratching even with the best of techniques, however, gives only temporary relief. A great variety of preparations are now available to soothe itching that threatens to drive you crazy. Some of these (water-dispersable bath oil and guanethidine) I have mentioned in the past. One of the newer preparations is betamethasone. In a feverish effort to find new products, however, we often neglect such tried-and-true standbys as calamine lotion with phenol which is obtainable at your nearest pharmacy without a doctor's prescription.

Q—I get a rash every time I eat tomatoes. Is there anything I can take to prevent this?

A—If you are allergic to tomatoes the best treatment is to eliminate them from your diet. This means pizza, vegetable soup, ketchups and all other items that contain tomatoes in any form. After you get the hives, an anti-histamine tablet or an injection of epinephrine should give you prompt relief. An allergist might be found who would give you a series of desensitizing injections but this form of treatment is not as successful against food allergies as it is against those caused by inhaling pollens.

YOU JUST CAN'T WIN

You think it's hard to learn a foreign language?

How would you like to be a newcomer to the United States trying to dig our various semantical whimsies?

For example:

Otto Graham, an all-time football great, has stirred up a big storm in the sports world by charging that Jim Brown, another all-time football great, doesn't do enough faking in his play for the Cleveland Browns.

Jim Brown fans are naturally enraged at this and are up in arms.

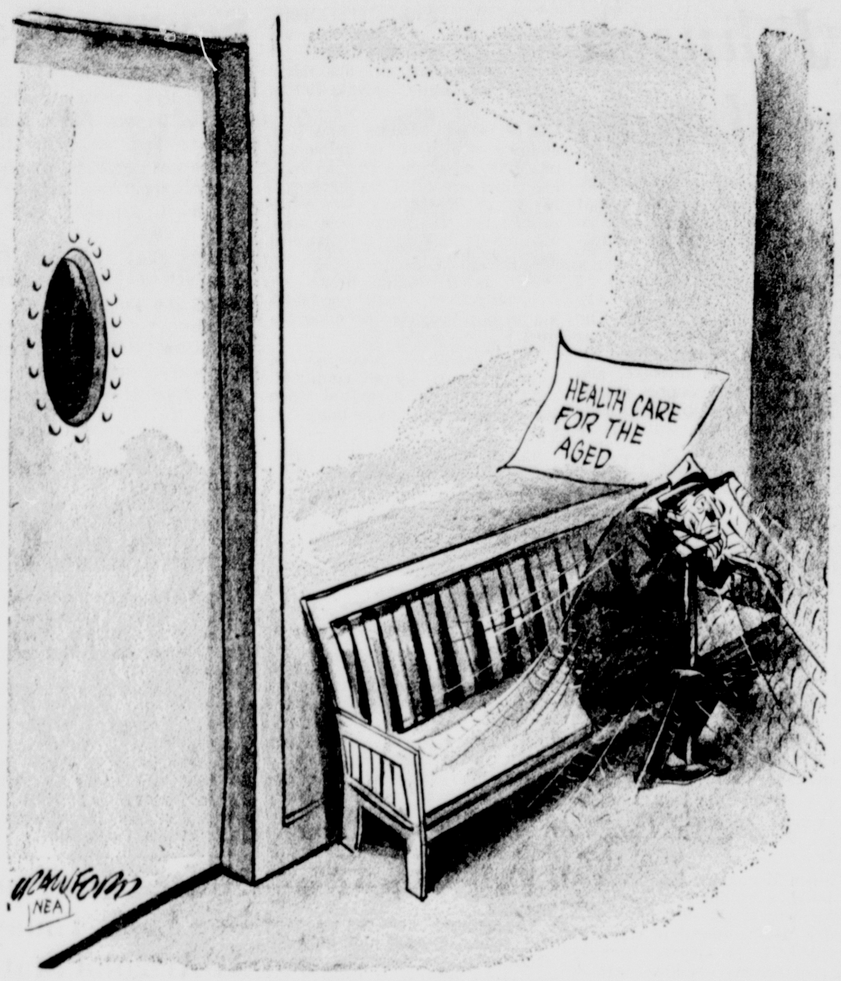

Simultaneously, followers of President Lyndon Johnson are enraged because presidential aspirant Barry Goldwater has charged that President Johnson IS a faker.

Confusin', isn't it?

The four top men on the Republican and Democratic tickets are all drawn from Congress. And after awhile what they say will sound more and more like filibustering.

The conventions ought to be shorter, it is agreed by practically everyone—excepting, of course, the hotel and restaurant people.

Grow Old Along With Me

Synanon House:

Where the Shattered Can Find New Family

WESTPORT, Conn. (NEA)—The neighbors complained at first. Few persons relished the idea of narcotics addicts living across the street.

That was five years ago in Santa Monica, Calif. A man named Charles Dedrich rented a house and attracted about him a colony of society's lost people—mostly dope addicts. He called his hostel Synanon House, a place where men could shake their habit and help each other to pull themselves on their feet.

Nobody really know what the word Synanon means, but that is not important. What is important is that the idea has grown to include nearly 500 "residents" in five locations. These are all in California with the exception of the Synanon in Westport, which is largely an Eastern reception station, from where newcomers are flown west every few weeks.

What goes on in Westport is not unlike what happens at the other locations. About 90 per cent of the "residents" admitted to Synanon look back on lives shattered by the dope habit. The rest are as badly off. Their careers may have been wrecked by gambling, alcohol or other addictions.

One 44-year-old man, who we will call Frank, explained what happens.

"The first thing you are made to realize at Synanon is that everyone there has been through what you have been through. So that whoever you meet has sympathy but, at the same time no patience with your problem. You can't k'd anyone.

"You're encouraged to be just what you are. You air your gripes but you don't talk about what a big man you are.

"One thing is understood. To get into Synanon if you are on dope you must kick the habit cold turkey." ("Cold turkey" means instantly, no gradual withdrawal.)

"It does no good to cry and thrash around hoping for a fix," Frank continued, "because someone will just tell you to knock it off. You soon realize that it won't get you anywhere.

"Then you start on the road back."

Everybody works at Synanon doing what he is best equipped to do. Sometimes a man's special aptitudes are channeled into unexpected directions.

One resident when he was on narcotics paid for his expensive habit by working in a car theft ring. His job then, to spot through binoculars cars with keys left in the ignition or with their windows open.

His job at Westport is that of "scrounger." Instead of collecting automobiles he collects food donated by friendly local merchants for the Synanon residents.

Nobody's talents are wasted. Some men wash dishes as they may have done "on the outside." Others clean windows.

Frank's regular job was a bridge painter, high above New York City's great rivers. The white paint on Synanon's windows never looked so fine, they said, as when Frank finished painting them.

All who enter Synanon do so voluntarily. However, they are cautioned that once they are in they must make a go of it.

"They warn you," said Frank, "that it's easy to leave Synanon but very hard to get back. The people—both men and women—realize that this is probably the last chance they'll ever have in life. They have to make it work."

For many, the family atmosphere at Synanon is the first they really have ever known. The funds to run this family all come from private donations. It costs about $2.50 per resident per day.

After its first five-year test, the Synanon idea seems to be working. If the plan continues to flourish and if its residents continue to emerge successfully into society, Synanon's methods may supply the answer to one of the nation's greatest problems, dope addiction.

Yet benefits from such programs as Synanon have a way of filtering outward to include those beyond the immediate Synanon family.

As an indication of such widespread benefits, Frank was accompanied by his 15-year-old son, Johnny, as he talked about his "second family," Synanon, in a small room.

Frank was proud of his progress, but his son seemed even more proud.

"Synanon is great, isn't it, dad?" asked Johnny.

Conditions Today Resemble Pre-World War II Situation

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Maybe the campaign speakers on both sides will miss the significance of it, but conditions today in many respects parallel those which prevailed before the outbreak of World War II—just 25 years ago this week. West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, in a little-noticed address at Bonn on Monday, frankly described the weakness and irresoluteness of the Western powers prior to September, 1939, and he put his finger on the very thing that usually encourages a dictatorship to take chances on war. He said:

"There is complete agreement that Hitler bears the main guilt for the sceond world war. But this verdict of guilty against the Hitler regime cannot change the fact that also other governments faltered, that after the Western powers accepted his acts of force Hitler built up illusions about the defensive will of those democratic states, and that Soviet communism—which until then had been pilloried—encouraged and, indeed, until well into 1941 even supported Hitler's further aggressions."

The politicians in power in Great Britian and France, as well as in the United States, misled the voters. They kept telling the people that wars could be prevented by continous concession and by the negotiation of treaties which, as it turned out, were not worth the paper on which they were written.

Although Hitler had marched into the Rhineland in 1936 without any military obstruction in his path and subsequently had committed act after act of aggression, the Western powers allowed their commerical interests to continue to sell him arms and war materials almost to the very month before the outbreak of World War II. But, coincidentally, the buildup of an adequate military apparatus in Western Europe and in this country was neglected. This encouraged Hitler to believe that the United States would never again enter a war in Europe or, if it did, its help would not come in time to be decisive.

Worst of all, the Western powers saw Russia sign a so-called "non-aggression" pact with Hitler on Aug. 23, 1939. The very next week, Russia was involved in the war on Hitler's side. This made unnecessary any military effort by Hitler against Russia at that time. The Nazi forces were thus free to invade Belgium and France, which were completely subjugated by the summer of 1940.

Even in the face of this disastrous turn of events, President Roosevelt campaigned in the summer and autumn of 1940 on a promise to keep out of the war. A few months later—June 1941—Hitler felt free to turn against his ally, Russia, and he secretly encouraged Japan to begin to harass America. The Japanese armies had by that time conquered much of Southeast Asia and were ready to turn their attention to the United States. The attack on Pearl Harbor in December 1941 was a planned climax by the Japanese-Nazi axis to frustrate any American military effort in Europe. This didn't succeed because the United States wisely decided to give its main attention first to the war in Europe, while holding off on any truly major offensive against Japan itself until afer the surrender of Hitler's armies in May 1945.

But where was the "defensive will" of the Western powers, including the United States, in the crucial 1930s? The appeasement in September 1938 at Munich by the Chamberlain government of Britain was hailed at the time as perhaps a good sign. But within six months Hitler grabbed Czechoslovakia, and it was clear that the Nazi leopard hadn't changed his spots. The West nevertheless continued "to do business with Hitler."

America's fumbling policies in the 1930s — the lack of what Chancellor Erhard has so fittingly described as a "defensive will" —can today, if repeated, mislead the Communist militarists into believing that they can conquer most of Europe with their land forces before the United States has a chance to use any nuclear weapons — if then. This was also the analogous concept of the Nazi militarists 25 years ago.

Today, in a Presidential campaign, the impression is again being conveyed that the Communist party in Russia can be trusted to "negotiate" peace treaties and "non-agression" pacts. The record shows the West has acquiesced in the building of the Berlin wall and the continued occupation of East Germany in plain violation of agreements signed with Russia before the conclusion of World War II.

It is the lack of a "defensive will" to stand up for established principles of international law and written agreements which is responsible for the weakness and disarray of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization today, as Europe and America once more hesitate to build a truly powerful military alliance. Will history repeat itself?

Quick Quiz

Q—How do you distinguish between melodies and harmonies?

A—Melodies are produced by notes in succession, harmony by notes in combination.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

ATHENS, Greece—It was cool under the big awning and the old fishing boats were quiet at their moorings, studying their images in the water. The old man stood off a ways, watching the Americans and their Greek guide eat lunch. He had no teeth, and his face fell inward, like a discarded pocketbook. The suit was blue and ancient, but the squinting eyes had a young life of their own.

He had been born and raised at Piraeus, the steep little sunny town across the bay from Athens. Once, when he had been young, he had hauled nets with the best of them, but now he carried a shoeshine box. American men were his customers, but this was the end of the season, and he could not afford to lose this one who ate well. So he waited, the box and brushes at his feet.

A good workman in Greece earns about 270 drachmas a month: $90. The old man could not earn forty. Without moving, he watched the fat Greek boss from the restaurant across the street hurry the waiters with the platters of thick cheese, sliced tomatoes red as a fresh wound, mounds of dark bread, broiled red snapper steaks, soda for the two blonde children who giggled, bottles of beer so cold that the perspiration ran down the glass, Turkish coffee, and a bowl of fresh fruit.

The fat boss at Kyma did not want the old man to annoy customers, but the old one had to have this one with the gray hair and the blonde wife. To shine his shoes could mean five drachmas, maybe seven. Still, he held back, afraid to commit himself and be declined. The Americans spoke animatedly to their guide, and the old man understood some of it because he had worked pretty well with Americans when "Never on Sunday" had been made here.

It is not easy to learn a new tongue in age, but the old man had studied hard and learned. He listened without appearing to listen, and he heard the American ask about the Acropolis and the Parthenon. The young wife could not seem to understand why the ancient Greeks always entered their temples from the east, and always worshippd outside, never inside.

The gray man spoke swiftly. He had many questions. The guide was dark and young and smiling and he had a good mouth for the snapper and a good eye for the blonde wife. The guide said that the Acropolis was merely the hill on which the temple stood. The temple itself was the Parthenon. It was built almost 500 years before Christ and the Doric columns appeared to be straight, the guide said, but actually they were toed-in, so that, if stretched to infinity they would all meet.

On the west side of the Parthenon was a bare rock as big as a steamship. There, St. Paul once preached to the Athenians, talking of a stranger named Jesus. The gray one began to eat cheese and bread and the old man waited until he thought the belly was happy. Then he approached the table and took his best shot.

"Shine, please?" he said in English. The American did not look at his shoes. "Thank you, no," he said, spearing the tomatoes. "They were shined this morning." The old man ordered his brave smile to appear. "Look," he said. The American looked at his shoes impatiently. They were rimed with white marble dust from the Parthenon.

"All right" he said, and stuck one foot out. The old one dropped to his knees and the leathery cheeks puffed in and out as the brushes whirled around the shoes. The guide exchanged a few pleasantries with the old one. The little girls got up from the table under the awning to watch. The old hands brushed the trousers as well as the shoes.

The youth in his eyes looked up at the little girls. He fumbled in a pocket and took out an old brass medallion. It was large and composed of many small medallions commemorating Greek history. He gave it to the little girl. "Quanto?" the gray one said sharply. "How much?" The old man shook his head sadly. "Nothing," he said. "Just a tning from an old man to a beautiful lady." The little girl blushed, and whispered "Thank you." The gray one broke his conversation with the guide and studied the old man. He saw the tired pride, and he was sorry he had asked "How much?"

"You have children?" he said softly. The brushes and polishing rags never paused in their shoeshine schottische. "Five,' he said in a high, far-away voice. "Two sons and three dowries." The Greek guide laughed. "The old man has a sense of humor," he said. "Over here, the father must pay a dowry to have his daughter married."

The shine was completed. The gray one was looking across the line of fishing boats to Athens on the far shore, a mosaic of broken crockery in a bowl of dark mountains. He wanted to pay the old one well, but he did not want to hurt him. The old man hoped for five drachmas.

The gray one handed him 20. The old man said "thank you" quietly. The little girl said: "Am I a dowry" The old man shouldered his shoe box. "You," he said, "are for kings."

Two Will Attend Rochester Meet For Local Kiwanis

JAMES W. PUTNAM

The Kiwanis Club of Ulster, will be represented at the 1964 convention of the New York District of Kiwanis International at Rochester, September 20-23, club president Robert Morehouse announced today.

Attending the three and a half day meeting from here will be Robert Morehouse and Harold Macholdt. Sessions will be held at the Manger Hotel.

Presiding officer will be John F. McMahon, governor of the New York Kiwanis District. McMahon, a member of the Kiwanis Club of New York City, is Commander of Volunteers of America. Representing Kiwanis International at the convention will be James W. Putnam, a trustee of the international servive organization. Putnam will be a principal speaker at Rochester.

Hosts for the convention will be members of clubs in the Genessee Division of Kiwanis' New York District. Some 310 clubs, with a total membership of nearly 15,000, will be represented at the big meeting. Principal business will include committee conferences, a discussion of community service and administrative plans for the coming year, the appearance of inspirational speakers, and the election of a district governor and other officers for 1965.

Putnam is a member of the Hi-Noon Kiwanis Club of Emporia, Kansas. He was elected to the Board of Kiwanis International as a trustee in 1963.

Putnam is a 25-year veteran of Kiwanis who has held most of the important offices in his club, and in the Kansas District of Kiwanis. He has also been a member and chairman of a number of district and Kiwanis International committees.

He was City Attorney for Emporia for a number of years. He is now City Attorney for Madison, Kansas. His total service in the two capacities amounts to 17 years. He has been a state legislator in Kansas and chairman of the Kansas Federal-State Relations Commissions.

His non-professional activities include civic and philanthropic work, and membership in the American Legion and the Chamber of Commerce. He is an Elder in the Presbyterian Church, a director of the Emporia State College Endowment Association, and chairman of the West Central Area YMCA youth and government programs.

Hard to Be Communist In U. S.: Soviet Press

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet press commemorated Tuesday the 45th anniversary of the founding of the U.S. Communist party — with an article on how tough it is to be a Communist in the United States.

The article, by American Communist leader Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, appeared in Pravda, official voice of the Soviet Communist party.

She wrote that FBI agents follow American Communists everywhere. "Their mail is opened and read. Party members under FBI surveillance lost their jobs. Spies are infiltrated into the party to testify against Communists at trials."

Why We Say--

When the leopard was named, it was wrongly thought that the animal was a cross between the lion (leo) and the panther (pard) . . . Taken together they formed the name leopard.

Helen Nolan Neil

Veteran Woman News Writer Is Dead at Age 58

STILLWATER, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. Edward J. (Helen Nolan) Neil, a veteran newspaperwoman and widow of a widely known Associated Press writer, was found dead Tuesday at her home. She was 58.

Coroner Harold Hall said she had died of natural causes.

Mrs. Neil, whose career carried her to many of the major capitals of the western world and Middle East, was found in the kitchen by David Dyer, a neighbor, and State Trooper R. B. Osgood.

The trooper said Dyer had become concerned after not having seen Mrs. Neil since last Thursday in her home in this village north of Troy.

Mrs. Neil ran unsuccessfully as the Democratic candidate for representative from the 31st Congressional District in 1951-53. Since April 1963, she had worked part-time as public information officer and research specialist for the State Comptroller's Office.

She was the widow of Edward J. Neil II, who was killed in 1938 while covering the Spanish Civil War for the Associated Press. Neil's stories were included in many anthologies of sports. He won honorable mention in the Pulitzer awards of 1932 for his story of a bob sled ride.

Foreign Correspondent

From 1936-39 she was a foreign correspondent in the Near East and Africa and had written for the London Daily Express, Reuters News Service, the Associated Press, the now defunct International News Service and Colliers magazine.

During World War II, she was director of information for the New York State War Council under the late Gov. Herbert Lehman. After that, she was on the staff of the Office of War Information and served in Washington, England and Germany.

From 1947-1951, she was a legislative correspondent in Albany for the Westchester Group of newspapers, for Newsday, L.I., and for the Civil Service Leader. Other newspapers with which she was associated included the two Albany dailies and the New York Mirror and American. She also worked for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

From 1954-1957, she was assistant executive secretary and assistant to Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City. She also was a member of the staff of the state Democratic publicity committee.

In 1957, Mrs. Neil was named senior economist in the New York Department of Commerce. The following year, she was named public relations officer for the New York City Department of Marine and Aviation.

Mrs. Neil was born in Mechanicville and was graduated from Boston University.

Survivors include the Neils' son, Edward J. III, a former Associated Press newsman in Albany, and now a sportswriter for the Winston-Salem, (N.C.) Journal, and a brother, Dr. James W. Nolan, of Warsaw, N.Y.

Glad About Bette

Olivia Enthused About Playing in Film 'Hush, Hush'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "There I was in Burgenstock, Switzerland, recalled Olivia de Havilland, "innocently enjoying picnics with my two children. Then came this phone call."

The call was from producer-director Robert Aldrich, a man with a headache. His film with Bette Davis and Joan Crawford, "Hush, Hush, Sweet Charlotte," was suspended because of Miss Crawford's illnesss, the delay costing $50,000 per day.

"May I come and talk to you about it?" Aldrich asked.

"Certainly," said Olivia.

Within two days he arrived in Switzerland to present her with the script. She read it twice, discussed it with him and talked with Bette Davis on the telephone. "I'd love to do it with you," said Bette with whom she had starred in the old Warners days.

Olivia's agent also urged her to accept the film, financial details were ironed out, and she said yes. That gave her three days to return to her Paris home to get a permanent, buy some "work clothes" for herself plus school clothes for her son and daughter, arrange a visa for a governess, etc.

She arrived here this week somewhat breathless.

"It was worth all the rush," she declared over breakfast at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

"The script is wonderful — it's a real 'movie' movie, full of weird, offbeat characters and houses alive with intrigue and crystal chandeliers. The whole script fairly drips with Spanish moss.

"And it will be marvelous to work with Bette again. She is the only true genius that we have had among the motion picture actresses.

"She was always my ideal on those years at Warner Brothers. I always tried to emulate her search for life, her urgency to portray a person in a living way."

"Hush, Hush" will be the second film of grotesquery for Olivia. The two-time Oscar winner was last seen in "Lady in a Cage," a tough, heartless film that drew the most violent reviews of her career.

Month Gone, China Makes No Overt Move on Bombing

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A month has gone by since the Gulf of Tonkin crisis began. Despite its threats and protests against the U.S. "paper tiger," Red China has made no overt move to avenge the American bombing of Communist North Viet Nam's territory.

This does not mean the Communists — Chinese and Vietnamese — are idle. It seems to mean that they will rely upon a combination of guerrilla war and exploitation of unstable politics to attempt to accomplish their aims in South Viet Nam.

There is a note of foreboding in Saigon about what the Communists might do to capitalize on the country's political turmoil.

The Red target, according to signs from Communist propaganda, will be the South Vietnamese soldiers and lower-ranking officers.

Instructions to Communist agents in the south are relayed by Hanoi radio in the north and by "Radio Sampan," in the south.

From the language of these broadcasts the Viet Cong evidently is being prepared for a campaign to foment a "defection movement" among the south's soldiery.

Apparently the tools will be cajolery, threats and distrust of non-Asian foreigners. Appeals are to be made to resist "American bosses" as the source of all troubles. Ambushes and acts of terror probably will be stepped up to demoralize the south's soldiers.

There was a lull in Viet Cong activity during the recent rioting. U.S. military men note it often takes the Viet Cong a week or more to react to such disturbances. Word must be filtered down through their ranks.

Red China lacks the wherewithal to confront the United States militarily in a Southeast Asia showdown. But the note of satisfaction in Communist propaganda in the wake of South Viet Nam's political violence indicates a belief there are more ways than one — and fairly nonhazardous ways — to skin a cat.

JANE BRODERICK

Speech Therapist Joins Staff at Local CP Center

New speech therapist at the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Center, 400 Broadway, is Miss Jane Broderick, a Syracuse University graduate with a BS degree in audiology and speech pathology.

As an undergraduate she was a member of the University Chorus and Alpha Chi Omega Sorority. She is interested in sports, mainly swimming and skiing. She has worked previously at the Cerebral Palsy Center in Syracuse. A native of Delmar, Miss Broderick began her duties Sept. 1, replacing Mrs. Ruth Elias of Ellenville, one of the three speech therapists at the center.

Speech correction is one of the major handicaps treatment at the center. Last year, of the 8,317 visits made by patients to the center for all types of physical handicaps, 4,639 of them were for speech correction. It is found that if treated early, with constant supervision and practice, poor speech can be overcome more quickly and more easily than if allowed to continue. Because poor speech often results in difficulty in socializing with others, Cerebral Palsy enrolls these children in its nursery school program, allowing them to associate with others their age under constant supervision.

United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County is a member of the Community Chest and treats children with all types of physical handicaps from Ulster and Greene Counties.

Wicks Meets Thursday

Regular meeting of A. H. Wicks Engine Co. will be held Thursday, Sept. 3, at 8 p. m. at the firehouse. Committees in charge of the recent annual bazaar and other events sponsored by the volunteer unit, will be submitted, and other important matters are on the agenda. Officers urge all members to attend.

Fined for Watching TV

OAK PARK, Ill. (AP) — Delores Julian, 21, was fined $55 Tuesday for watching a television program — in her car.

Mrs. Julian was arrested in February for speeding and driving through a red light. Police said at the time she was looking at a six-inch television set mounted on the dash board of her car.

Day-to-day use of silver dollars has not been common in the East or Middle West.

2 Teens Charged With Auto Theft; Held for Hearing

Two 17-year-old youths were committed to the Ulster County jail Tuesday, pending a hearing on Sept. 14 before Ellenville Village Police Judge Frank Decker on charges of second degree grand larceny involving an alleged automobile theft.

Police Chief Abe Rand said the defendants are, David Arnold, of Kerhonkson, and David Whitworth, of Napanoch.

The youths are accused of taking a 1958 car owned by the East End Motors of Pine Bush, which was loaned to Harold Jarlinghouse Jr., of Ellenville, according to Chief Rand. The car was reported stolen from Canal Street on Monday, and police sent out teletype alarms with description of the vehicle.

Chief Rand said the youths were taken into custody by Oneida police and held until they were picked up there by the chief and Officer John Phillips. Arraigned on charges of grand larceny, Arnold and Whitworth requested an adjournment to obtain counsel.

Bail was fixed at $500 by Judge Decker and unable to post the bail, both youths were ordered held in the county jail.

50,757 Attend State Exposition

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — A total of 50,757 visitors passed through the gates Tuesday as the New York State Exposition began a seven-day stand.

Last year, 57,736 persons attended the exposition on its opening day, also a Tuesday. For the week-long run last year, the fair drew 462,142 persons.

German Propaganda Blamed Britain

Real Story of Athenia Sinking Is Told in 1946

LONDON (AP) — A brisk breeze whipped up the North Atlantic as the British liner Athenia cut through the whitecaps on her voyage into history a quarter century ago Thusday.

It was Sunday, Sept. 3, 1939. The 13,581-ton ship was only a day out of Liverpool bound for Montreal.

Among the 1,417 passengers — 200 more than normal — there was little of the usual gaiety of an Atlantic crossing.

Just before lunch, the expected news came. A seaman posted a bulletin that Britain and France were at war with Germany.

Anxious to Get Home

The sweep of events in Europe dominated the conversation among passengers and crew. Many on board were Americans who had hoped to get home before the outbreak of a general war.

At 7:45 p.m., as the sun dropped toward the horizon, the Athenia was 250 miles off the northern tip of Ireland. Some passengers were still having dinner.

Suddenly, the lookout in the crow's nest shouted.

An eighth of a mile away a periscope poked through the water. A white streak of foam raced toward the ship. A moment later there was a crash.

The torpedo blasted a huge hole in the port side astern of the engine room. A few minutes later a submarine numbered U30 surfaced and shot away the Athenia's mainmast with a deck gun.

First U-Boat Casualty

At 11 a.m. the following day, the Athenia sank. She had become the first Allied casualty of the Nazi U-boats.

The attack cost 112 lives. About half of the victims were Americans or Canadians. The sinking stirred an international outcry because the U30 had struck without warning against an unarmed merchantman.

In addition, neither the United States nor Canada was at war yet with Germany.

Some compared the incident to the sinking of the Lusitania in 1915, which helped edge the United States into World War I.

Why had the Nazi war machine struck against the Athenia so blatantly? Obviously embarrassed, the German propagandists accused the British of staging the sinking to drag the United States into the war.

The Germans had made a similar accusation after the Lusitania incident.

Admits Mistake in 1946

But the real story of the attack on the Athenia came out at the Nuernberg war crime trials in 1946. A statement by Adm. Karl Doenitz told how he had met the U30 on her return to port and encountered a "very unhappy" Capt. Fritz - Julius Lemp, the submarine's skipper.

Lemp told Doenitz he had mistaken the Athenia for an armed merchant cruiser on patrol. The Nazi regime imposed an oath of secrecy on everyone involved and even ordered the U-boat's log doctored.

U30 went on to make several more kills.

National CORE Director to Be Local Speaker

JAMES FARMER

National director of Congress of Racial Equality, James Farmer, will be principal speaker at the Mississippi Freedom Project at Woodstock later this month.

The event sponsored by the Ulster County Chapter of CORE will be held Sept. 18 at the Woodstock Playhouse.

Farmer was one of the founders of CORE in 1942. He was its first national chairman and became its national director in 1961. In the spring of 1961, he led CORE's first Freedom Ride and as a result was held in Missippi jail for more than a month. Farmer also has worked for the Fellowship of Reconciliation, the NAACP and several labor unions.

He holds a BS degree in chemistry from Wiley College and a BD degree from Howard University School of Religion as well as an honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities from Morgan State College, Baltimore, Md.

Funds raised at the local benefit will be used to aid voter registration projects in Mississippi.

St. Peter's Sets Rosendale Bazaar

Carl Mihm, general chairman of a committee in charge of the annual carnival and bazaar conducted by St. Peter's Catholic Church, Rosendale, announced today that everything is in readiness for the two-day event.

The carnival-bazaar will be held Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 5 and 6, starting each evening at 7 o'clock. A homemade food and cake sale will be held Saturday starting at 10 a. m. on the church grounds, the site of the carnival and bazaar.

Many entertainment features and awards are expected to attract capacity attendance each night. Cash awards will be made nightly at 9 and 10 o'clock. In past years St. Peter's bazaar has been one of the outstanding social events in Ulster County.

Closed-Door Hearing Today on 4 Children

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller accompanies his wife to a closed-door hearing today in which she seeks to regain custody of her four children by her first marriage.

Dr. James S. Murphy, who was remarried in June to Victoria Thompson, is opposing the petition by Margaretta (Happy) Rockefeller.

The children, James, 13; Margaretta, 11; Carol, 8, and Melinda, 4, were not expected to testify before State Supreme Court Justice Joseph F. Gagliardi. But the judge might call the two oldest children for private talks in his chambers.

Mrs. Rockefeller and Murphy both are expected to testify and there is a possibility the governor also may be called.

Reds Score UN Plane

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — North Korea charged today that a United Nations command light plane violated Communist air space along the eastern part of the demilitarized zone Aug. 27.

U.S. Air Force Maj. Gen. Cecil E. Combs, senior U.N. command delegate to the Joint Military Armistice Commission, said the charge will be investigated.

"Barbecue" comes from the Spanish word "barbacoa," a wood frame used as a drying rack or cooking grill.

DON'T FORGET!

Money deposited on or before Sept. 3rd will draw a big 4 1/4% dividend from Sept. 1st at the Ulster County Savings Institution, 280 Wall St., Kingston, N. Y.

Only a Few Minutes from Wherever You Live

Talmud Torah Classes Start In Early October

Talmud Torah of Kingston, the combined Hebrew and Sunday school of the two traditional Congregations in Kingston, will begin its school term on Thursday, Oct. 1, Hebrew School and on Sunday, Oct. 4, Sunday school.

Classes will be held during the week Monday, Tuesday and Thursday from 3:45 to 5:15 p. m. On Sundays, primary classes for children under eight years of age will be held from 10:15 to 11:45 a. m. During the week, Hebrew School classes will have assemblies under the guidance of the two Rabbis on the faculty.

A revised curriculum has been discussed and will show its effects this coming year. Prayers and services will be taught and practiced in the assembly periods. Students requesting special help in their studies will meet with an instructor during the assembly period. The curriculum and texts have been selected toward a prayer oriented program, rather than a Hebrew language emphasis. The Talmud Torah Board has adopted these changes to provide the background for a better understanding of and greater participation in Synagogue services.

The board agreed to the schedule of classes with the added resolution that out of town children desiring a Hebrew and religious education would be registered and necessary classes formed. Parents are requested to contact Millie Rose, financial secretary, to register their children.

The Talmud Torah of Kingston is chartered by the New York State Board of Regents, sponsored by the Congregation Agudas Achim and Congregation Ahavath Israel. The teaching staff consists of Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport and Rabbi Harry Schectman, Lionel Friedman, Ephraim Propp, Mrs. Aaron Klein, Mrs. Stuart Harris and Mrs. Joseph Colen. As advisors and for substitute teaching there are Cantor Slomovits, Mrs. Lotar Saluc and Mrs. Carl Weiss.

The Talmud Torah is operated by a 20 member board representing both congregations. Although there is no active Parent - Teacher Association, parents may attend board meetings held each first Monday of the month in the Jewish Community Center, 96 Maiden Lane where all classes are held.

Parents and students are urged to attend High Holy Day assemblies at their respective synagogues.

Barry Will Open Drive Thursday in Childhood Town

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater formally opens his presidential campaign in the mountain-rimmed town of Prescott Thursday, where once he sold chipmunks on the corner of the city plaza.

For Goldwater, it will be a return to his ancestral home and the place where he spent the summers of his youth.

It was Sept. 18, 1952, that Goldwater launched his first senatorial campaign from the northside steps of the Prescott courthouse.

He will use the same spot to launch his bid for the presidency.

Thompson's Illness Kills Main Desire

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Millionaire auto racer Mickey Thompson, hospitalized with suspected heart trouble, wishes "the good Lord had seen fit to wait until after next year's Indianapolis race to have this happen."

Thompson, 24, blacked out last week after streaking across Utah's Bonneville salt flat at 161.74 miles per hour in a Corvette. When he blacked out again that night, jet-car speed record holder Craig Breedlove drove him to a hospital.

Thompson, who drives his own race cars and holds nearly 200 land speed records, said: "I wanted to drive in the (Indianapolis) 500 more than anything, but I guess if it wasn't to be, it just wasn't to be."

Dies of Shotgun Wounds

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — A 29-year-old woman died today of shotgun wounds suffered Tuesday night during an argument with a man in her apartment, police said.

Shirley Fite died in St. Elizabeth Hospital. Nathaniel Irons, 31, who lived in the same apartment building, was charged with first-degree manslaughter.

Council Votes $8,500 to Finish Walks

that contracts of sale were entered into without consent of the council.

2. That the council would look with favor on any request made by the mayor for authority to acquire said lands for park and recreation purposes only, but not for a refuse disposal area "as such an area is defined in Part 19 of the State Sanitary Code."

3. That the council request the alderman-at-large to reactivate the committee named to study the feasibility of an incinerator project, either jointly with neighboring towns, or exclusively for the city, and that all reports on incinerator projects accumulated by the original incinerator committee, on file with the city clerk, be turned over to the new incinerator committee.

Goes by Phone Calls

Alecca, who changed his vote on the Fifth Ward sidewalk project, said he could "only go by telephone calls" he received from persons telling him "how they feel" about matters in the council. He noted he has been an alderman for less than a year and is "still learning."

The alderman said he was "fooled on the question of sidewalks and curbs for the John F. Kennedy School, because now I find that the people, who yelled the loudest against sidewalks, did not represent the majority of the people in my ward." Therefore, he said, he changed his mind. He had been upset, he said, by telephone calls from persons who told him that if he voted for the sidewalk measure, the Democratic aldermen would "come out for the dump in the Fifth Ward." He said he would not "knuckle under these kind of threats."

Aldermen, who had previously opposed the sidewalk and curb measures, emphasized that they had never intended to go on record as opposing sidewalks for school children, but acted as they did for technical reasons.

Alderman Tucker, who remained opposed, said: "First, I would like to take exception to the statement made by His Honor, The Mayor, in the local press. As I stated at previous meetings I am fully concerned with the safety of school children. However, my conviction has been that the taxpayers, whose property is involved, should not be taxed 100 per cent for improvements or installations, which they are compelled to do, due to circumstances beyond their control."

It was stated, he said, that the majority of curbing and sidewalks installed was "footed by the individual property owners" and if a minority was done on a 75-25 per cent basis, "why are others compelled to pay?"

To Go Further

Alderman Robert Gallo (D) Ninth Ward, who like Norton, appeared to feel that the BPW had discretionary power in dealing with sidewalks and curbing, questioned another technical point pertaining to the bond issue, and said he wanted it understood by the people of his ward that he was bound by the decision of the corporation counsel, and emphasized that he "will pursue the matter further."

Minority Leader James F. Howard (D) 10th Ward, said he voted for the sidewalk proposals since the decision of the corporation counsel made the 100 per cent assessment mandatory, and there appeared no alternative.

Peter J. Mancuso (D) Eighth Ward, protested what he considered "pressure tactics" by the mayor in singling out the four aldermen who had previously opposed the sidewalk measures, as being opposed to sidewalks for children. A lot of "time and effort," was consumed, he said, and he felt that if the mayor at first had called in the aldermen for discussion, time might have been saved.

If the mayor meant to bring pressure in his recently published statement, he said, where he was concerned "it backfired," because he had received no calls. He felt he was now legally bound to vote for the proposals. Mancuso also noted that there appeared to be no provision dealing with sidewalks and curbs in the new city charter to be voted on in November, and Gallo, noting that, asked: "Where do we go from here?" with the new charter in dealing with sidewalks and curbs.

Majority Leader Machione arose several times in attempts to prevent what he considered "stalling." He was also opposed to the time-consuming reading of the minutes of the previous meeting.

Mrs. Dreiser Has Floor

Mrs. Carmella Dreiser, of 103 Gross Street, granted privilege of the floor through Alderman Tucker, said:

"Mayor John J. Schwenk stresses the fact that Gross Street taxpayers are neglecting to put in sidewalks and curbing. Does Mayor Schwenk announce to the public the other side of the story?

"He neglected to say that the curbing and sidewalks on the John F. Kennedy School side, in some sections, have been raised as high as 17 inches above the present street level.

"Now how does this affect the taxpayers on Gross Street? Simply that when this street is raised we are put to much more expense than sidewalks and curbing. It means added expenses to fill in our properties to meet the new street level.

"We did not ask for this new school to be built practically at our front doors. We do not feel we should pay the full 100 per cent of the cost of the curbing and sidewalks. We feel they should have chosen a more appropriate site for this school. Our children have walked to school for years with no curbing or sidewalks.

"Let's take a look at another viewpoint. If Mayor Schwenk would ride down to the old No. 4 School, he would find there are no sidewalks on the Delaware Avenue side of the school. This situation has been like this since I was a youngster.

"Now let Mayor Schwenk tell me why Gross Street is so different from Delaware Avenue, or any other street surrounding school property, where there are no sidewalks."

Depends on Engineer

Alderman Gallo asked Corporation Counsel Gold about Mrs. Dreiser's point of possible extra charges dealing with the 17-inch curb problem. Gold said the question was hypothetical, at the time, and a reply would depend upon findings by the engineering department.

Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll released his chair temporarily to Majority Leader Machione, so that he could step down in the council and commend Corporation Counsel Gold for his assistance at the meeting.

Minority Leader Howard wanted to know if money was left over from a sidewalk project would the taxpayer gain through reduced assessment, and Alderman-at-Large Carroll said a decision of that nature would have to be left with the corporation council for a decision at the next meeting.

City Treasurer Richardson, in his request for the $180,000 budget note, reported an approximate total of $225,000 in unpaid 1964 general taxes, and due to be received were: $16,000 in mortgage taxes from the state; $49,376.25 in per capita assistance, and $15,000 in electric gross utility taxes, making a total of $305,376.25.

The requested zoning change left with the Laws and Rules Committee were filed through Attorney Louis H. DiDonna for Louis F. and Rose M. Roberti, of Eddyville, who indicated they plan a development "for docking of boats, marine sales and services," on a site along Abeel Street, not for from the city line.

Alderman William G. Davis (D-Lib.) 13th Ward, commenting on the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, said he had been in the council some seven years, and it was the first time he had heard the entire minutes of a meeting read. He thought City Clerk Foster had done "an excellent job," and moved for approval of the minutes.

Two Republicans See Justice for Senecas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, New York Republicans, say New York's Seneca Indians will receive some justice from a compensation bill signed Tuesday by President Johnson.

They referred in separate statements to the $15,000,573 damage and rehabilitation fund to help the Indians to adjust to construction of the Allegheny River Dam and Reservoir in New York and Pennsylvania.

Keating said the new law was "just and fair and will do much to restore the Senecas' faith in the good will and understanding of the American people."

Javits said the signing was an historic moment for the Senecas who need the funds to rebuild their community. "I am thankful that the great responsibility of the United States to the Seneca nations for the lands taken from it to build the Kinzua Dam has been carried out with dignity and reasonable justice."

The Allegheny River Dam is at Kinzua, Pa.

Dies in Fall

NEW YORK (AP) — A man fell about 150 feet to his death today from a television tower atop the Empire State Building.

He was Harlen Jorden, 34, of Grassy Point, N.Y.

Police said he was working on the WPIX television station antenna. His body landed on an ice shield above the 102nd (top) story.

Business Lists Are Available At City Library

Data on the IBM Corporation appears in the Directory of Industrial Research Laboratories in New York State just received by the Kingston City Library.

This directory lists every laboratory in New York State, the executives and their addresses, size of staffs, activities, fields, and whether or not a laboratory's services are available to the public.

This directory is just one example of the many state and federal publications that the library receives each month. The library can acquire most New York State publications free of charge, and it has been steadily increasing its holdings. Federal government publications can be obtained at a nominal charge and many are now being acquired.

The following government publications are just a few of the materials recently added by the library:

Tax Guide for Small Business, by the U. S. Internal Revenue Dept., is a guide in everyday language to the businessman's rights and obligations under Federal tax laws. It includes the latest legislation on taxes.

Selling to the Military, by the U. S. Dept. of Defense, gives general information on how to go about selling to the military, items purchased, and locations of military purchasing offices.

Sources of Credit Information on Foreign Farms, by the U.S. Dept. of Commerce, is a necessary publication for all U.S. firms trading, investing or manufacturing abroad. It lists agencies and banks which may be contacted, addresses, personnel, and a wealth of other data for countries from Aden to Zanzibar.

Purchasing, Specifications, and Sales Directory, by the U.S. Small Business Administration, tells who buys what and where, sources of government specifications, and who sells what and where.

Directory of National Associations of Businessmen, by the U.S. Dept. of Commerce, lists names, addresses, staff, and other data about thousands of associations, from the Abrasive Grain Association to the Zirconium Association.

Occupational utlook Handbook, by the U. S. Dept. of Labor, gives current career information on nearly 700 different kinds of jobs. Each section describes the nature of the work, training and other qualifications, employment outlook, earnings and working conditions and where to go for more information.

Homemaker Services Cataloged

Directory of Homemaker Services, by the U. S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare, is a complete listing of the homemaker agencies in the U. S. Many people are not aware of the aid that can be obtained from these agencies for dependent children, the temporarily disabled and the aged.

U. S. Government Organization Manual, by the U. S. Dept. of Archives, is a complete guide to the structure, function and publications of all the agencies, bureaus, departments, committees and multilateral organizations of the U. S.

These are just a few of the many government directories, guides, manuals, statistical compilations and pamphlets at the Kingston City Library. The Library hours are 10:30 to 8:30, Monday through Friday, and 1 to 5 Saturdays.

Honor Adm. Greenfell On Navy Retirement

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Vice Adm. Elton W. Grenfell was presented the Distinguished Service Medal and a presidential citation Tuesday.

Grenfell, cited as the man who activated the Polaris submarine program and for meritorious service, retired Tuesday as commander of the Atlantic Fleet Submarine Force after 38 years of Navy service.

$17.5 Million Voted For Study on Canal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has given final passage to a bill that authorizes $17.5 million to study whether a second canal would be feasible across Central America.

The action came Tuesday on a house rolle call vote of 320 to 23.

If President Johnson signs the measure, a commission appointed by him would study if and where a canal should be built and report back by June 30, 1968.

Indonesia Attacks

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Indonesia launched an airborne attack before dawn today, landing 30 paratroopers into the center of Malaysia's southernmost mainland state of Johore, the government charged.

A government spokesman said one battallion of soldiers and a police field force attacked the parachutists, killing one and capturing at least three in the first fighting.

General Board for LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has organized labor's endorsement in his bid for a first elective term. But a question remains about how faithfully 12 million rank and file members will follow the union leaders.

The General Board of the AFL-CIO voted unanimously Tuesday to endorse Johnson for president and then trooped to the White House to give the chief executive the welcome news.

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Industry is shifting into higher gear a bit earlier than usual.

Labor Day is the unofficial start of the autumn season for many companies and the beginning of the production year for some indusries. But industry as a whole is picking up momentum now without waiting for the end of the vacation season and the start of the back-to-work and back-to-school period. Here's the picture:

Steel output last month set a record for any August.

Factory orders have hit a new high after two-month slowdown.

Manufacturers sales have climbed to a record high, and

Factories Move Up

Factory inventories have edged up only slight, meaning that most of the production gains have been passed along at a reassuring pace in shipments to consumers.

Right after Labor Day will come the showdown in the auto labor talks—an uncertainty that many industries must reckon with. A strike, especially a prolonged one, could upset a lot of business planned.

But another, uncertainty is counted upon to spur production in late autumn. That is the possibility, however remote now, of a steel strike next May. As a hedge, many steel customers will be tempted to order ahead and build up their stocks. With output already climbing, steelmen are more than usually confident as September starts. And the fast pace of steel production now could make users start stockpiling earlier than in past steel labor contract negotiation years.

Steel Climbing

August steel production at around 10.5 million tons topped the previous record for the month of 9.6 million tons in 1955. Output has been climbing for four straight weeks after a summer dip that was shallower than usual.

New orders received by factories had slipped in May and June after setting a record high of $38.2 billion in April. The Commerce Department reports they rebounded in July to hit a new high of $39.4 billion. This carried the backlog of unfilled orders to $54.2 billion, with the July advance concentrated in durable goods. Aerospace industries were the star performers.

Rise Is Modest

Factory shipments climbed 3 per cent in July to a record $37.9 billion.

When output is rising to new highs, a close watch is kept on inventories. If they start to bulge, it can spell trouble in the future, because customers might start to living off their stocks and stop ordering. But the department reports that the rise in July was a modest $45 million, bringing the total to $60.4 billion. This is regarded as nicely in line with sales and flashing no warning signals as yet.

Strike Area Code

NEW YORK, (AP) — Entertainers and waitresses at Greenwich Village coffee houses formed a union and went on strike against two establishments. They called themselves Local 212 and explained No. 1 sounded too young and inexperienced and 212 is the New York telephone area code.

Vermont Governor Criticizes Camp Drum

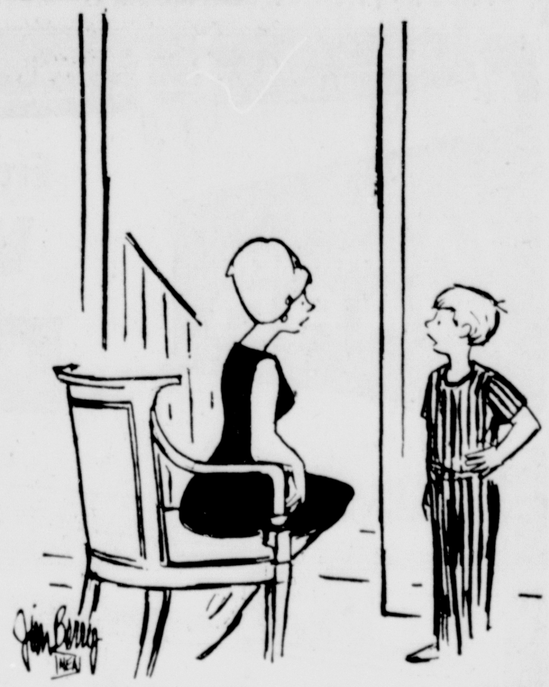

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—Gov. Philip H. Hoff has criticized equipment and barracks at Camp Drum, N.Y.

Hoff visited the camp two weeks ago when Vermont National Guardsmen were training there.

He said Monday that Vermont guardsmen spent much of their time repairing equipment that was supposed to be ready by the time they got there.

Maine Gov. John H. Reed said last week he had written the Defense Department to complain about the buildings and the unsanitary eating conditions at the camp.

Prison on Wheels Mobile Display Here Sept. 9, 12

The crime discouragement display "Prison on Wheels" sponsored by Sheriff J. Edward Slavin of New Haven County, Conn., will be shown in the Kingston area from September 9 through 12 at the Big Scot discount store on Route 28 just past the Thruway interchange.

This interesting crime prevention educational display featuring scientific crime detection and practical police equipment, includes realistic replicas of an electric chair and a gas chamber, all housed in a $25,000 specially designed vehicle custom-built for this purpose.

The exhibit is one originated by Sheriff Slavin, to be both informative and educational for adults and young people alike.

It is not designed to glamorize the resources of police, nor to depict the value of prison or capital punishment facilities, but to serve as a reminder that these await those who would take the law into their own hands. To prevent crime, particularly among our young people, has long been a fight waged by Sheriff Slavin. Back in 1947 Sheriff Slavin devised the plan for a "Prison on Wheels" which could carry throughout the country the message of consequences for law violations. Since then 900,000 people have visited the exhibit.

Courteous attendants explain the various items. There is displayed such equipment as the Electronic Lie Detector, the Harger Drunk-o-Meter, Electric gun lock, tear gas guns and other modern law enforcement aids.

No admission is charged but voluntary donations will be accepted to help continue this educational program and to maintain the support of the exhibit.

Sheriff Slavin is well known throughout the country for his campaign against crime, particularly his program for prevention through education of youngsters. He is an active life member of the National Sheriff's Association, an active life member of Chiefs of Police and member of Connecticut National Jail Association and serves as a police commissioner of the Town of Woodridge, Conn.

The display is being brought to this area by Walt Corriher, tour director.

7 of 8 Children Watch Kennedy Get Nomination

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Ethel Shakel Kennedy had seven of her eight children on the platform to watch her husband, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, accept the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate from New York.

Despite the heat in the crowded convention at the 71st Regiment Armory Tuesday, Mrs. Kennedy, 36, who is expecting a ninth child in December, enjoyed the big moment immensely.

As Kennedy received the necessary votes to clinch the nomination, Mrs. Kennedy smiled broadly and said: "Oh! Isn't that lovely."

Her sons wore jackets and ties and the daughters were dressed in white frocks and big white hair bows. All had giant campaign buttons which read: "Let's put Bob Kennedy to work for New York."

Speaking of the state Kennedy seeks to represent, Mrs. Kennedy said: "New York is the most exciting place. It has everything — mountains, lakes —it's the most varied in the country."

She and the children, however, will continue to live in their 100-year-old house in McLean, Va., because 'we enrolled the children in schools there in the spring. Besides, if Bobby is elected we'll be living nine months of the year there anyway."

The Kennedys will come to New York on weekends to stay at the sprawling, nine-bedroom Dutch colonial house the family has leased in Glen Cove on Long Island's north shore.

The Kennedy youngsters at the convention were Kerry 3; Michael, 5; Courtney, 7; David, 9; Robert Jr., 10; Joseph, 12; and Kathleen, 13.

Poet Scans Highways Cutting Down Signs

KELOWNA, B.C. (AP) — A man who calls himself the "poetic carpenter" has found a unique way of protesting highway billboards.

He cuts them down and leaves behind a few lines from poet Ogden Nash to explain his work:

"I think that I shall never see
A billboard lovely as a tree
Perhaps, unless all billboards fall,
I'll never see a tree at all."

Since the "carpenter" first struck July 22, five billboards, valued at up to $500 each, have been found — with poem attached — lying along a scenic highway. They had been sawed from their wooden supports.

Book by JFK Will Appear in October

NEW YORK, (AP) — A book titled "A Nation of Immigrants," on which President John F. Kennedy was working at the time of his death, will be published Oct. 7, it was announced today by Harper and Row, New York publishing firm.

It is a revision and expansion of a 1958 booklet Kennedy wrote for the Anti-defamation League of B'nai B'rith. It deals with the history of immigration to the United States and Kennedy's critique of the current immigration law.

Launching Submarine Made of Aluminum

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — The privately owned Aluminaut, a 50-foot research submarine built to dive three miles beneath the waves, will be launched today.

The aluminum submarine is owned by Reynolds International Inc. Builder of the 75-ton submarine was the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp.

The vessel will have a range of about 80 miles, a cruising speed of 3.8 knots, a maximum time submerged of 72 hours and a crew of a pilot and two scientists.

Patrol Feels Unwanted

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Why is the Washington State Patrol like a wallflower at the Senior Prom?

Answer: It isn't attracting enough tall young men.

The patrol said Tuesday it has received only 20 applications after a week of recruiting for men at least six feet tall, between 21 and 28, with a high school education.

County Disaster Group Asks For Livestock Feed Program

Ulster County's Disaster Committee of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, 54 John Street, at a meeting Tuesday decided to request the Scretary of Agriculture to make a Livestock Feed Program available to farmers of Ulster.

Early last month this county along with Dutchess was included among the counties of the state in declared disaster areas due to severe drought conditions.

Donald Weaver, secretary to the Disaster Committee, advises that this is an emergency program designed to assist producers who lack adequate feed supplies due to drought conditions. It is not meant to be used by those who have sufficient feed or who are financially able to buy feed at regular market prices, it was explained.

As soon as authorization is received, all farmers will be notified of the details of this program and how it will operate.

Applications and approvals will be handled by the ASC office, 54 John Street, this city.

After the county was declared a disaster area in August, Congressman J. Ernest Wharton announced from Washington, D. C., that farmers were offered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture hay and grazing privileges through Oct. 31 on land retired or diverted from crop production to relieve hardships brought about by the drought.

At that time Weaver said about 1,500 acres in Ulster were diverted and could be released and harvested. The action taken last month gave the ASC county committees authority to permit grazing and hay harvesting on land diverted from crop production.

Approval of Ulster as a disaster area permitted farmers to make application for low-interest loans to carry them through the period.

Johnson . . .

Democrat was State Chairman Lex Hawkins, Des Moines attorney, who admitted that he "goofed" in not seeing that the names were filed in time.

The White House in Washington became concerned and telephoned Gov. Harold Hughes, who was at Mason City Tuesday night to open his campaign for re-election.

Hughes told a newsman there he thought the certification law could be stretched a little because it is only a procedural matter.

Bull Market Bankruptcy

Bankruptcy petitions have been filed against Bull Markets Inc., of 413 Washington Avenue, retailer of food and meats, in New York proceedings, it was learned today. Once operator of a chain of stores, two here, two in Poughkeepsie and one at Newburgh, the corporation, according to a recent listing in the New York Times, has liabilities of $252,292, and assets of $31,710.

Man He Defeated To Help Ted Kennedy

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., hospitalized with a broken back, will be helped in his re-election campaign by the man he defeated in a bitter 1962 primary fight.

Edward J. McCormack Jr., nephew of U.S. House Speaker John W. McCormack, said Tuesday, "We're good friends, and as a friend and as a Democrat, I want to see the senator elected."

Kennedy is in New England Baptist Hospital recovering from injuries suffered in a plane crash June 19. He is not expected to be released for several months.

Central Hudson Reports Record Electricity Use

Commercial and residential air-conditioning combined with heavy industrial activity in the Mid-Hudson region Monday resulted in an all-time record consumption of electricity both for a 24-hour period and for a single hour.

Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation officials reported that a record use of 5,686,200 kilowatt-hours was experienced in the 24-hour period, topping the previous high of 5,674,000 kilowatt-hours set on July 29. The new peak hourly record was set during the noon hour Monday at 300,070 kilowatts and compares with the previous all-time high of 295,800 experienced last December 17 and with the previous summer record of 295,500 recorded on July 29.

Johnson Asking Kickback Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has asked for an FBI investigation into charges by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., that builder Matthew McCloskey paid a $35,000 kickback on the DC Stadium construction contract.

Williams said in a Senate speech Tuesday that $25,000 of the alleged $35,000 kickback was channeled into the 1960 Democratic campaign.

The investigation by the FBI will be made to determine whether there had been any violation of federal law.

Vice Premier Resigns

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vice Premier Nguyen Ton Hoan resigned today, charging Premier Nguyen Khanh's present government "has no legal authority or standing."

While Khanh recovered from a physical breakdown, new troubles were heaped on his regime by Buddhist leaders who threatened a general strike.

A strike will be called, the Buddhists warned, if the government fails to institute what they describe as needed democratic reforms.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pushed ahead further in fairly lively trading early this afternoon.

Stocks advanced on a broad front, although most gains of key stocks were fractional.

Hope of an auto labor settlement increased as bargaining talks lengthened in an effort to break the stalemate.

General Motors and Chrysler again touched historic highs but shaded their best gains as the session wore on. GM chopped a rise of about a point to a fraction. Chrysler trimmed its own fractional advance and barely clung to the upside.

Early gains by steels were shaded and the group looked mixed.

Moderately higher were aerospace issues, rails, electronics, building materials, drugs and chemicals.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 317.0 with industrials up .9, rails up .8 and utilities unchanged.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.39 at 846.39.

Buffalo Mayor

in the State of New York as a first step in its revitalization would be the overwhelming defeat of Robert Kennedy in the forthcoming election."

The county's Democratic chairman, Erminio Venuto, said the executive committee backed Stratton months ago because "we were looking for an early, unofficial candidate to get a head start against Keating."

Scott Executive Will Be Keynoter For Traffic Club

The Mid-Hudson Traffic Club will hold its monthly meeting Wednesday, Sept. 9 at the Covered Wagon Inn starting with dinner at 7:30 p. m.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Orville H. Miller, assistant vice president of the Scott Paper Company in Philadelphia, Pa. His topic will be traffic and distribution.

Director of traffic and distribution at Scott, Miller began his career with the paper company as a general office accountant in 1939. He had previously worked by the Bell Telephone Co. in Pennsylvania and General Motors Corp. in accounting positions.

Miller served with the Navy in World War II, returning to Scott in 1945. He was named assistant director of traffic in 1947, and five years later became director. In 1953, he took on the additional duties of directing the company's newly-established distribution service for customers, one of the first in American industry. In November, 1963, Miller was elected an assistant vice president of Scott.

He is a member of the American Paper and Pulp Association Traffic Committee, on the executive committee of Grocery Manufacturers of America Distribution Council and Traffic Committee, chairman of the Warehousing and Distribution Committee of the National Industrial Traffic League, and a charter member of the American Society of Traffic and Transportation. He also holds memberships in the National Freight Traffic Association and the Philadelphia and New York Traffic Clubs.

Miller, who was born in Harrisburg, Pa., in 1910, was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania Wharton School of Finance and Commerce in 1934. He also completed the Program for Senior Executives at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Regatta Sunday To Stress Hudson River Clean Up

Highlands Community Yacht Club, of Garrison-on-Hudson, will sponsor a "Shape Up The Hudson" Regatta Sunday afternoon, The event is open to any boating enthusiast interested in dramatizing and emphasizing the need to "clean up and conserve the Hudson River," and is open to all craft, outboard, inboard and sail.

Invitations to participate have been sent to yacht clubs and marinas between Poughkeepsie and Tarrytown. Nine organizations have already accepted on behalf of nearly 50 craft; including two 17-foot kyacks.

The regattat will rendezvous off Cold Spring-on-Hudson at 1230 hours. Three flotillas, with sail in the van, followed by outboards and cruisers, will proceed upriver to Pollepel (Bannerman) Island, return downstream past Storm King Mountain and conclude the sail-past by 1430 hours.

The Coast Guard has assigned a patrol boat and Monday has been set as the rain date. Anyone interested in participating may contact David Pritchard, secretary of Highlands Community Yacht Club, or Lou Frankel in New York City.

Keating to Speak At Award Fete

Kenneth B. Keating, United States Senator from New York, will deliver the principal address at radio station WGHQ's Second Annual Human Relations Award presentation to be held here on October 6.

Harry M. Thayer, president of the Herald Tribune radio station at Kingston said that "WGHQ is very pleased that Senator Keating has agreed to return this year because of his strong identification as a champion of improved human relations, and because of his understandably heavy speaking schedule in October."

Keating was the guest speaker at WGHQ's First Annual Human Relations Award last year when Jackie Robinson was the recipient.

Senate Approves Conservation Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — By voice vote Tuesday, the Senate gave final congressional approval to a compromise measure authorizing establishment of a $2-billion, 10-year land and water conservation fund.

The measure was the 21st on President Johnson's list of 36 "must bills to be passed by Congress.

The bill, worked out in a conference committee of senators and representatives, would provide federal money to devlop outdoor recreational areas.

Banking Institute Schedules Classes At Kingston High

Ulster County Chapter of American Institute of Banking has scheduled evening classes at Kingston High School beginning 7 o'clock Sept. 9 as part of its fall educational program. Approximately 75 students have already registered for the course.

Subjects and instructors available this year are principles of bank operations, John Molloy, assistant vice president of Kingston Trust Co.; negotiable instruments, attorney Bernard Feeney; accounting, local accountant Charles Ronder; bank investments, Joseph Brady, assistant treasurer of Kingston Savings Bank and installment credit, William S. Trotter, assistant cashier of Marine Midland National of Southeastern New York, Poughkeepsie.

The chapter is also planning a bus trip to the World's Fair Sept. 26. Chairman of the event is Francis Kugelman of Kingston Savings Bank.

Keating Appeals

dresses the AFL-CIO convention today.

Convention leaders have delayed action on the Senate race until after it has heard both major party candidates.

Keating told the convention that the AFL-CIO Committee On Political Education had rated him as voting for labor eight times on 10 issues, and he added:

"I don't think that any baseball team would get rid of a man who batted .800. A batting average of .800 is better than the average of a Babe Ruth or Mickey Mantle."

To Vote Medicare

The warmest applause for Keating came when he announced that he and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, his senior Republican colleagues, would leave for Washington immediately to vote on a bill for medical care for the aged. "As everyone knows," Keating said, "I support the medicare program." Javits was introduced to the convention at the end of Keating's speech and drew spirited applause.

The convention unanimously re-elected Raymond R. Corbett as state AFL-CIO president and Louis Hollander as secretary-treasurer for tw-year terms.

The three-day convention concludes today.

Baltimore Is . . .

pattern in the Negro-based rioting that began in New York's Harlem July 18 and exploded in North Philadelphia last week.

"Persons knowledgable in the field of planned, fomented disorders feel that Baltimore could be the next logical target for the outside agitators who have invaded other cities," they said.

The ingredient common to the disturbances in New York, Rochester, N.Y., Paterson, N.J., and Philadelphia was friction between Negroes and police.

The Harlem rioting was attributed to the fatal shooting of a Negro boy by an off-duty policeman.

Baltimore has had two comparable incidents in the past three months.

LEGAL NOTICE

At a Term of the County Court of the County of Ulster, held at the County Court House, in the City of Kingston, New York, on the 31st day of August, 1964.

PRESENT:
HON. RAYMOND J. MINO,
Ulster County Judge.

In the Matter of the Application of
JOSEPH GUIDO, a/k/a
JOSEPH GUIDA,
for leave to change his name to
JOSEPH WEIDER

Upon reading and filing the petition of Joseph Guido, a/k/a Joseph Guida, verified the 20th day of August, 1964, praying for a change of name of the petitioner to permit him to assume the name of Joseph Weider in place of and instead of his present name, and the Court being satisfied that the facts alleged in the petition are true and it further appearing that there is no reasonable objection to the change of name proposed; it is

On motion of Francis Martocci, Esq., attorney for the said petitioner,

ORDERED, that the said Joseph Guido, a/k/a Joseph Guida, born on April 1st, 1897 in Italy, be and he hereby is authorized to assume and use the name of Joseph Weider in place of and instead of his present name, upon complying with the provisions of Article 6 of the Civil Rights Law and of this order, namely:

That this order be entered and the said petition upon which it was granted be filed within ten days from the date hereof in the Office of the Clerk of Ulster County; that within twenty days from the date of the entry hereof, a copy of this order shall be published at least once in the Kingston Daily Freeman, a newspaper published in the County of Ulster, New York; and that within thirty days after the making of this order, proof of such publication, by affidavit, shall be filed with the County Clerk of Ulster County; and it is

FURTHER ORDERED, that on and after the 10th day of October, 1964 the petitioner, Joseph Guido, shall be known as and by the name of Joseph Welder, which he is hereby authorized to assume and use and by no other name; and it is FURTHER ORDERED, that a certified copy of this order shall not be issued until proof of compliance with the above provisions has been duly filed with the Clerk of this Court.

Submit Ordinance To Curb Industry In Town of Hurley

A "stop-gap" ordinance designed to prevent the introduction of any new commercial activity in the Town of Hurley for one year has been submitted for adoption by the Hurley Zoning Commission.

A report drawn up by the Commission Monday night holds that the ordinance is intended to "preserve the character of the community by the prevention of the establishment of any noxious industrial or commercial operations in the town for one year."

A temporary measure, the stop-gap plans would maintain present coditions in Hurley until a more complete and detailed zoning ordinance can be prepared.

The Commission's report stressed that no present property use would in any way be "disturbed or affected." The Hurley Town Board has scheduled public hearing on the issue for Thursday, Sept. 17.

Created by the Town Boad early this year, the Zoning group consists of seven members from different districts throughout the town. On the Commission are Robert A. Ronder, chairman, Rolling Meadows; James Cunniff, Old Hurley; Louis Hall, Southside; Paul McGuire, Hurley Heights; Harry Mirick, Hurley Ridge; Edward O'Conner, Hurley and Peter Weider, Glenford.

Anti-CR . . .

posed Democratic incumbent U.S. Sen. Philip Hart 455,779.

Dingell led Lesinski 29,799 to 24,805 with 293 of 307 precincts reporting in the district composed of a small portion of Detroit plus southwestern suburbs.

Mrs. Peterson, former vice chairman of the Republican National Committee, built an outstate edge that overcame the Wayne County (Detroit) lead posted by O'Neil, a member of the State Board of Education and the pre-election favorite.

Didn't Campaign

Romney endorsed none of the Senate hopefuls but was reliably reported to favor Mrs. Peterson, long one of his supporters.

Romney overwhelmed Higgins, who had campaigned partially on a basis of his support for Sen. Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee. Romney has not endorsed the Arizona senator, did not campaign in the primary and refused even to acknowledge he knew Higgins' name.

The over-all Republican turnout rolled up about a 5-to-4 lead over the Democratic vote total, seemingly brightening Romney's already-good November re-election chances against Staebler.

Average Down When Prospects Are Favorable

Q) "We have a number of stocks which you often mention favorably. We are concerned about two; namely, Klein's Department Stores, and Burroughs, which we bought at much higher prices. Do you think we should buy more of each to average down our cost?" R.S.

A) I have often said here that averaging down should be done only when there are good prospects for a turnaround in earnings and price.

Klein has been undergoing a big expansion and modernization program, the costs of which in recent years have penalized earnings. These expenses are now diminishing and I believe Klein will show a very sharp rise in net in the current fiscal year. I think you might do well to average down in Klein.

Burroughs is in a somewhat different situation. They have a new computer which is said to be very good technically. The computer competition, however, is getting pretty rough, with some price cutting already announced. I would retain but not add to Burroughs holdings.

Q) "I am in the 38 per cent income bracket. Since I am 65 with no dependents, I have converted some common stocks to municipals and am thinking of a further switch from savings accounts into tax-exempts. What would be a proper ration between municipals, common stocks and savings accounts?" M.B.

A) If I may reply to your last question first, there is no fixed ratio. It depends entirely on your age, your need for income and your income bracket. You are at or near retirement, I presume, and in your bracket taxable equivalent yields on municipals are relatively high.

For example, Seattle, Washington, Light & Power Revenue 3.40's now available at 100, would give you a taxable equivalent yield of 5.48 per cent. I believe that 30 per cent in good stocks — for growth and as an inflation hedge — 50 per cent in municipals and 20 per cent as a savings reserve would be a suitable ratio in your situation.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Water Situation Eases; Ferry St. Service Approved

The critical water shortage situation in the Village of Saugerties eased somewhat today as a two-inch flow was reported going over the Blue Mountain dam. However, Water Board officials indicated that the ban on unnecessary use of village water must continue until additional rainfall replenishes the supply.

Saugerties Water Board at its meeting Tuesday night aproved an extension of about 1,800 feet on Ferry Street to Saugerties Power Board Association clubhouse. Bids will be advertised shortly for the purchase of the pipe.

On Monday Mayor Ziegler declared a ban on all unnecessary use of village water. The ban prohibitis watering of lawns and gardens, car washing and filling of swimming pools. The ban applies to all residents using village water.

A similar ban has been in effect in Glasco Water District for some time. The Glasco Water District which supplies most of Barclay Heights and the hamlet of Glasco buys its supply from the Village of Saugerties.

Rainfall at Blue Mountain Reservoir after the Monday downpour measured nearly an inch.

Registrations For New Pupils Now Thru Friday

Pupils in Grades 7-12 who are new residents of Saugerties Central Schools District must register prior to the opening of school.

Registrations will be accepted to Friday from 9 a. m.-12 noon and 1-3 p. m. at the guidance office of Saugerties High School, Washington Avenue Extension.

Since the guidance counselors will be attending faculty meetings on September 8th, no one can be registered that day. A new registrant should bring with him his birth certificate, school transfer, and last year's report card. School opens on Wednesday, Sept. 9.

High Woods Fair, Supper Slated on Holiday Weekend

With the High Woods Labor Day Fair less than a week away, members and friends of High Woods Reformed Church are busy preparing for the annual event.

A roast beef dinner will be served in the church hall from 12 noon on. In the old carriage stalls on the church grounds handmade quilts, aprons and many novelty items will be on display and for sale. During the year members of the Ladies Aid have made more than 80 aprons in a variety of styles.

In one of the stalls visitors may have their portraits sketched by High Woods artist Charles Bryson. The Kay-Ray Trio, made up of musicians from Fish Creek and High Woods, will play throughout the day. Rag rugs will be shown in the schoolhouse where they were woven, and where the looms on which they were made may be seen.

The cornerstone of the High Woods Reformed Church is dated 1868. Many generations of fair-goers and workers have helped the little old Dutch church keep its door open and its steeple bell ringing. Through the years the church has been referred to as "Dutch Reformed." Its original parishoners were predominately Dutch or of Dutch extraction.

In years past, publicity for the fair was often written with a note of humor, and some of it, written in all seriousness, has become humorous in retrospect. The following appeared on an old handbill advertising the fair: "The grounds will be electrically lighted by Robert Harder's Westinghouse home lighting plant." From another handbill: "Left! Right! Halt! Rain or Shine, All Roads Lead to High Woods on Labor Day . . . Especially the new macadamized road leading from Mount Marion to High Woods will be open for pleasure seekers that day."

Ends French Tour Now Assigned to California Post

The U.S. Air Force recently announced that Capt. Channing L. Purdy has been selected for a tour of duty with the Office of Deputy Inspector General at Norton AFB, Calif.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hal C. Purdy of Ulster Landing Road, Flatbush.

The 39-year-old former C-118 aircraft commander and instructor pilot recently ended a 30-month assignment with the 7120th Support Squadron at Chateauroux, France to become travel coordinator for the global missions of USAF safety investigators and inspectors.

Following graduation from Sidney, (Ohio) High School in 1943, Captain Purdy enlisted as an aviation cadet. During World War II he trained in B-29 reconnaissance. In the Korean conflict he completed 100 missions in the LT-6G "Texan" single engine trainer directing close air support.

For his participation in a successful air strike against Chinese bunkers and artillery in North Korea he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. While attached to the Army's 7th Division in Korea as a forward air controller, he was awarded a Bronze Star. He also wears the Air Medal with two oak-leaf clusters.

Between wars Captain Purdy attended Indiana's Purdue and Butler Universities, where he majored in engineering and business administration. He also completed a year at the Air Force Statistical Services School, Travis AFB, Calif. His military career included assignments following Korea at Kelly AFB, Tex., as a ferrying pilot and group mangement analysis officer; Casablanca Flight Service Center in Morocco as center operations officer, and McGuire AFB, N. J., as C-118 aircraft commander.

Captain Purdy resides at 1950 Sierra Way, San Bernardino.

Miss Larned Attends Leadership Conference

Miss A. Frances Larned, director of guidance at Saugertie High School, attended the annual invitational leadership conference sponsored by the Bureau of Guidance of the State Education Department held at Hotel Thayer, West Point from August 20-22. The purpose of the assembly was to convene the newly incumbent leaders of guidance organizations to encourage and promote professional growth and to provide opportunities for the exchange of ideas. Miss Larned is the president of the Ulster County Guidance Association for the ensuing year.

Recently Miss Larned returned from attending a two-week work-shop at Cornell University concerned with The School Dropout.

Msgr. Montano Injured in Fall

The Very Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Montano, visiting with his family and friends in Saugerties for a few days, suffered severe facial lacerations Monday evening when he slipped and fell while walking along the high ground in Malden overlooking the Hudson River. He is a professor at St. Joseph's Seminary at Dunwoodie, Yonkers. He was reported in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital.

About Town Folks

Mrs. Samuel Christiana of Hollywood, Fla., spent a day last week with Mrs. Catherine Van Gaasbeek of Lafayette Street.

George Kerbert Jr. of Elm Street, is still a patient at Albany Medical Center Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wolven and family of Ravena, spent the past weekend with Mrs. Anna Wolven of Russell Street, and other relatives in town.

The Rev. Le Roy S. Dietrich of New Bloomfield, Pa., and Mrs. Dietrich are staying a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sloboda of West Camp. The Rev. Mr. Dietrich is a former pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp.

Mrs. Edward Underhill of Post Street, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Underhill and family at Woodstock.

French Attracts

QUEBEC (AP)—The Quebec government says it gets five times as much tourist interest resulting from French-language advertising in U. S. magazines than from advertisements in English. Using French "evoked in the American reader the image of a different country, able to satisfy his desire to make a foreign voyage but not too far."

State Police and Dogs

ELGIN, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois State Police have put teeth into fighting crime. A corps of 12 German Shepherd dogs—one for each district—has been added to accompany troopers while on duty. Both dogs and masters have completed a two-month course at Vandalia's State Police Farm. Troopers assigned to handle state police dogs volunteer for the job — the trooper must like dogs.

1964 Looks Like Top Year

Babies of World War II Rushing Marriage Bureau

By THOMAS W. POSTER

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's largest marriage license bureau is busier than ever because of the bumper crop of World War II babies now making applications for licences to get married.

Herman Katz, who heads New York City's Marriage License Bureau, reports that 1964 will be one of the biggest years for licenses issues. And 1964 being a leap year has nothing to do with it, he adds.

Marry Younger

"The kids today are getting married younger," Katz said. "The fact of the matter is that the big rush is on because of the World War II babies who have reached the marrying age. And, of course, some of the younger men are getting married to take advantage of the draft deferment for married men."

But 1964 will never top the record of 106,447 licenses issued in 1946 when World War II ended and discharged veterans rushed home to the sweethearts who waited for them.

In the first seven months of 1964, the bureau issued 41,655 licenses, an increase of 2,878 over the same period in 1963.

A check of the applications shows that most licenses are being issued to 18-year-old girls and 21-year-old men, the minimum age requirements for marriages without parental consent. Many licenses have been issued to girls under 18 and men under 21 but with parental consent. Legally, licenses can be issued to girls as young as 14 and boys as young as 16 with court sanction.

Most 21 to 23 Years Old

Last year the applications showed that most licenses were issued to applicants from 21 to 23 years of age.

When Katz performs a wedding — he and his six deputies, besides judges and Mayor Robert F. Wagner, are the only nonclergymen authorized to perform weddings in New York City — he takes the couple to the bureau's wedding chapel, small but tastefully decorated, with a pulpit and stained glass window.

"When I take that pulpit I try to give the impression to the couple before me that they're the only two people in the world who are getting married," he said. The ceremony takes about five minutes but Katz likes to stretch it out as long as possible.

Last year the city issued 69,628 licenses and expects to approach 80,000 by December 31. Only five states outside of New York, issued more licenses in 1963. Pennsylvania issued 71,211; Ohio, 71,675 Illinois, 91,552; Texas, 103,937; California, 121,369. New York State issued 130,511.

"Nevada, which issued 73,233, doesn't count," said Katz. "It's a business there, what with all their divorces. Here it's something special."

The earliest reference to the practice of diving occurs in the Iliad, where Patroclus compares the fall of Hector's charioteer to the action of a diver diving for oysters. Thucydides mentions the employment of divers during the siege of Syracuse to saw down the barriers which had been constructed below the surface of the water.

Pakistan Accepts Way To Avoid Arms Clashes

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Pakistan has accepted India's suggestion to the U.N. Security Council for a gentlemen's agreement to avoid clashes along the cease-fire line in divided Kashmir, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said Tuesday.

The agreement follows several months of almost daily firing along the U.N. cease-fire line. Pakistani officials reported today that 13 Indian soldiers were killed in a weekend clash.

Dewey Highway Becomes Official As Signs Erected

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York State Thruway, the state's 559-mile highway, officially became the Thomas E. Dewey Highway Tuesday.

The Thruway Authority erected eight Dewey signs welcoming motorists to the cross-state highway, largely constructed while Dewey was governor, from 1942 through 1954.

Five signs were posted at points on the state line where the Thruway connects with turnpikes and highways of other states. The other three are at thruway entrances within the system.

The Dewey signs—white letters on a dark blue background—were made in the authority's own shop at a cost of $8,500, the authority said.

Appearances Are Deceiving!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The letter in your column about the woman who looked clean from the outside but who had a dirty neck struck close to home with me. I have a birthmark which covers about a third of my neck. It is a brownish discoloration and everyone thinks my neck is dirty. I have been to doctors by the dozens and they all say there is nothing they can do about it, so I should just forget it. I've tried covering it with make-up, but the make-up only comes off on my clothes and it's not worth it. I now practice a bit of philosophy I learned: "When fate deals you a blow about which you can do nothing, learn to live with it." I have learned to live with my birthmark. And when I first meet someneck, I promptly "stick my neck out" and say, one and notice them staring in disbelief at my "No, my neck isn't really dirty. It's a birthmark." It helps!

STUCK MY NECK OUT

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am glad you advised the woman whose friend had a "dirty" neck to skip the matter. I have had a "dirty" neck for years, only it's not the kind of dirt that can be removed with soap and water. It's a skin condition due to a pigmentation disorder. Doctors call it "chloasma" and as far as I know it's incurable. It seems to appear on the logical resting places for grime, such as the neck and hairline. We victims can't go around explaining to everyone we meet that we are as clean as they are. Maybe cleaner. I hope you'll print this, Abby. It will mean a lot to others who are embarrassed by this ailment.

"NEXT TO GODLINESS"

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: About "dirty" necks: Several years ago I finally gathered the courage to tell a good friend of mine to see to it that her youngster washed his neck, or to wash it for him. She said it was a fading summer tan and would soon disappear. Well, it didn't disappear, so she proceeded to scrub the hide off the poor kid. The dirty look remained. She took him to a skin specialist and learned that the lad had a pigmentation problem, for which there was no cure.

REMEMBERS WELL

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am probably the woman who has the "dirty" neck, so I hope you will use my letter to explain that my neck is not really dirty! The pigment is gradually disappearing from certain areas in little patches, which gives the appearance of being unwashed. It is not a "disease" as such, and my doctor says there is no treatment or cure. It is not painful, neither is it contagious. If anyone has ever gotten rid of it, I wish they'd tell me how.

HAD IT FOR YEARS

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 2, the 246th day of 1964. There are 120 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, Japan formally surrendered to the Allies. A delegation of Japanese boarded the battleship Missouri and signed the unconditional surrender of the Japanese empire.

On this date:

In 1943, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill conferred in Washington with President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gen. George C. Marshall.

Ten years ago — Jordan charged that Israeli troops had attacked Jordanian villages northwest of Jerusalem.

Five years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower gave a dinner in London for his wartime comrades and Sir Winston Churchill.

One year ago — Gov. George Wallace prevented the state of public school desegregation in Alabama by surrounding Tuskegee High School with state troopers.

Struck Out

NEW YORK, (AP) — Florida Gov. Farris Bryant said he made several requests to World's Fair officials for changes involving the Florida exhibit. "We asked for all of them and we were turned down," he lamented.

Ruth Hartke Is Killed In Auto Collision

NAPOLEON, Ohio (AP) — Miss Ruth Hartke, 57, a public school consultant in Dearborn, Mich., and a sister of U.S. Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., was killed Tuesday in a head-on automobile collision on U.S. 24 east of here.

The crash took place about three miles from the scene of another head-on collision early Monday in which five persons lost their lives.

Miss Hartke was pronounced dead on arrival at Heller Memorial Hospital. She was alone in her car.

Verland Kohl, 36, of Holgate, Ohio, the driver of the other car, also was alone. He suffered an injury to his right leg and was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Shokan

SHOKAN—Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Hendricks, Poughkeepsie, called on Clyde Winchell last Sunday. Mrs. Hendricks, the former Grace Furman, resided on what is now the Ed Wiederspeil place along the mountain road. She attended the old Brookside School in Shokan when the little red schoolhouse (where Kate Walton began her teaching career at the age of 15) was closed on account of the few children remaining on the mountain. Hendricks, also a native of Olive, was brought up at West Shokan. The couple planned to drive up to the Weeks Cemetery, one of several family burying grounds remaining outside the Reservoir taking line.

Mr. and Mrs. Jules Heitner, Pauline Blum and Mollie Sherman, all of Brooklyn were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Schultz at the couple's summer home along Ridge Road. Heitner is a teacher of social studies in the New York City Schools system.

Mrs. Burton Mayes and Mrs. Martin Vredenburgh were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Archibald.

Callers in the hub of the reservoir country Monday included Marshall Outwater, Spring Valley Road, Croton-on-Hudson.

Catherine Carlson is at her Shokan home following a four months sojourn at Long Beach, Calif. Mrs. Carlson has been chairman of the annual Red Cross for the past several years.

Ray Johnson, new manager at the Volunteers of America headquarters in downtown Rondout, was a caller in the village center Thursday. Johnson came to Kingston from Binghamton.

Woodstock people in town Friday included Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lewis.

Reservoir Country 25 Years Ago: Olive people visiting the World's Fair in New York included: Mr. and Mrs. William Beesmer, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Gelbert, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Gordon and daughter, Ruth, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Davis . . . . Joseph and Fred Dewitt are now settled in their new bungalow along route 28 . . . Louis Theil has added some new stock to his fine flock of goats . . . Thursday, Aug. 17, '39 . . . Mr. and Mrs. Burr Elmendorf called on Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gulnac Friday to see the new baby . . . Willie Cohen will leave for the World's Fair in company with his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Elefant and son Ralph.

The Allens decided to take a house in the suburbs, and shortly after their arrival there an old friend came to call on them. As he approached the house a dog of generous proportions sprang from the porch, and ran toward him, barking fiercely. The caller was about to retrace his steps when the cheery voice of Mrs. Allen rang out:

Mrs. Allen—Why, how do you do, Mr. Fisher! Come right in. Don't mind the dog.

Mr. Fisher—But won't he bite?

Mrs. Allen—That's just what I want to find out. We just bought him this morning.

An English steamer was wrecked on the French coast, and the survivors were coming ashore, some in tow of powerful swimmers, others clinging to planks and barrels.

Those nearest land, almost dead with fatigue, were at last heartened by the sight of an approaching boat. As it bore down on them a figure in uniform rose in the bow.

"Have you anything to declare?" demanded a stern voice.

Could Use Time Campaigning, But –

Struggle on Curbing Court May Keep Congress a Month

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, which has moved into vacuums Congress wouldn't fill, is getting its own particular kind of backlash from politicians.

In a struggle now over curbing the court's powers members of Congress have themselves so boxed in they may be here another month although they could use the time in election campaigning.

An attempt is being made to undo the court's ruling last June that voters in the states are entitled to far more equal representation in their state legislatures than they are getting now.

Example: Under arrangements unchanged for more than half a century in some states a relatively small number of people in one district, especially country district, can elect one legislator while four times as many people squeezed into a single district elsewhere can elect only one.

The court said representation in both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on a population basis of "one person, one vote," and federal courts have the job to see it's done.

Could Destroy System

The present attempt to undercut the authority and range of the court is looked upon as so dangerous by opponents of the effort that one of them, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said "it could wind up rendering the court a nullity, destroying our Republican system of government."

The powerful court over the past 10 years has infuriated one group after another with decisions ranging from a ban on segregation to a ban on official prayers in public schools. It inflamed the politicians — some of them — by its decision on state legislatures.

The politicians and political machines which hold power in state legislatures where representation is not on an equal population basis naturally don't want any changes that would cost them jobs or power.

Republican Action

Some people, not directly involved, may feel the court overreached itself. But the Republicans at their convention this year responded to the oppposition to the court ruling by putting into their platform a promise in support of: "A constitutional amendment, as well as legislation, enabling states having bicameral (two-house) legislatures to apportion one house on bases of their own choosing, including factors other than population."

This would take away the court's power to order reapportionment of both houses on a population basis.

No Time This Year

But there wouldn't be time to act on it this year, since Congress is coming to an end. It would have to wait till next year. So as an interim move Dirksen made this proposal in the form of a bill to be passed this year: Delay any court orders on reapportionment for about two years.

He didn't offer it as a bill by itself — he said he didn't think it had a chance that way — but as an amendment on the $3.5-billion foreign aid authorization bill.

President Johnson is anxious to get the foreign aid money. If he vetoed the bill because of the attached Dirksen amendment, the whole thing would have to go back to Congress. He very probably wouldn't veto it. That's Dirksen's strategy.

For some strange reason, although the value of people's votes are involved in all this, Johnson has said nothing, taken no stand. The Democrats in their platform played mousey by leaving out all mention of reapportionment.

Determined for Kill

But some members of the Senate — particularly liberals led by Sen. Paul Douglas, a Democrat and like Dirksen from Illinois — wouldn't buy any part of it and are determined to fight until they kill it.

The two-year delaying action in the Dirksen bill would give Congress time to approve the kind of constitutional amendment he has in mind and then perhaps time for the states to approve.

A constitutional amendment must be approved by two-thirds of House and Senate and by three-fourths of the state legislatures — 38 out of 50 — or three-fourths of conventions called by the states. It is up to Congress to decide which method is to be used.

If it was done by state conventions — to which delegates would be elected by the people — the voters could have a direct voice in whether they wanted reapportionment by voting for delegates who were for or against it.

But only once in American history — this was the 21st Amendment ending prohibition in 1933 — has an amendment submitted to the states by Congress been approved by state conventions.

If Dirksen's amendment went to state legislatures it's not hard to imagine the politicians who stood to lose jobs or power by reapportionment would jump at the chance to approve the amendment.

Those Holes Save Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Franklin County jail prisoners will be allowed to drill holes if plans of county commissioners are realized. But they'll be in doughnuts.

Commissioners, figuring to save at least one type of dough, are negotiating for a doughnut machine. They say the cost would be about $200, compared with about $450 monthly for doughnuts served prisoners for breakfast.

Full Garage

UPPER ARLINGTON, Ohio (AP)—This well-to-do suburb of Columbus has a reputation for lots of two-car families. But now officials are learning that there are some four-bicycle families as well.

This is the community's first attempt at licensing bikes. As Safety Director Frank Gallo put it: "We started with 5,000 licenses and ran out right away. You'd be surprised at the number adults who own and ride them."

WINNER AT ROCKETRY MEET—Jonathan F. Lown, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Lown of 72 Orchard Street, proudly displays plastic scale rocket model and trophy he won at the recent sixth annual National Association of Rocketry meeting held at Wallops Island, Va. He won nine blue ribbons and a trophy despite the fact that most of his rocket models were irreparably damaged in shipping. A junior in Kingston High School, young Lown is a Life Scout with Boy Scout Troop 12 and a member of Fair Street Reformed Church. He financed his plane and bus trip to Virginia with earnings from his two newspaper routes. (Freeman photo)

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Today's hand started out as an exercise in bidding. There are any number of ways for North and South to arrive at six no-trump, but it is quite easy if North is allowed to bid four no-trump as a no-trump raise and not as a demand to show aces.

The six no-trump contract is a good one. It would have been a cinch had the spade finesse worked, but in spite of the tough luck in the spade suit South was able to make the hand by means of a double squeeze.

He won the club opening in his hand and promptly led the jack of spades for a finesse. East took his queen and led a second club.

South won in dummy and ran the spades, discarding two diamonds and a heart from his own hand. Then he cashed his two high diamonds and high club.

This produced a three card ending. Dummy held ace-king-nine of hearts and declarer held one low card each in hearts, diamonds and clubs.

West had to hang on to a high club and East to a high diamond so neither one could keep three hearts, this dummy's hearts were all good.

Of course, the slam could have been beaten had West been clairvoyant enough to open a heart and East had returned the suit when he got in with the queen of spades, but such leads rarely occur at the table.

Danes Are Buying Russian Cars At Prime Prices

Soviet cars such as the Moskvitch aren't exactly flooding the market, but they are making a dent. About 45 a month are sold, in contrast to 1,000 Volkswagens from West Germany.

Nordisk Diesel, the importers, estimate that more than 1,500 Moskvitches and Volgas have gone onto Danish roads since imports started in 1961.

Ten Showrooms

Sven Heitmann is the most successful of 10 Copenhagen showrooms with Russian cars. He sold more than 150 last year, and says sales are going up.

"Most of the Soviet cars I sell are bought by people who heard the cars recommended by other people," he says.

Attractive Prices

Few other family cars of this type can be bought at similar prices. American cars are much more expensive, many being in the $5,000-7,000 range. About 1,000 U.S. passenger cars are imported every year.

Dealers believe that more Soviet cars would be sold in this country if the body designs were more up to date. As of now they seem fashioned after older models of the West German Opel.

More important is a political barrier.

Causes Shame

"Businessmen especially hesitate to be seen driving a Communist car," says Heitmann.

What attracts buyers apparently is low price and solidity. The cars are built for bad Russian roads and the Soviet makers say the steel bodies are designed to withstand below-zero temperatures. Danish experts speak favorably of the body steel.

A Danish newspaperman who has driven a Moskvitch two years declares: "They are about the solidest things since the Model T Ford."

SHOULD WEDDING CAKE BE A GIFT?

Q: My husband is the owner of a large bakery. He specializes in decorative cakes for special occasions. The daughter of a friend of ours is going to be married shortly and my husband was asked to bake the wedding cake. Would it be proper not to accept payment for this cake and give it to the bride as our wedding present or would it be better to give something else?

A: As the bride's parents are most probably paying for the wedding, the cake would really be a gift to them, and it would be better to give something that the bride can keep and use afterwards.

Daughter of Divorced Parents

Q: My mother and father are divorced. My mother has remarried and I live with her and my stepfather. My father lives in this same city and I visit him twice a month. My mother is giving a party here at home to announce my engagement. I would like to know if my father should be present at this party?

A: This would depend on how he and your mother feel toward each other. If they have remained friendly, he may be present at your engagement party; otherwise not.

A Letter of Introduction

Q: The daughter of a friend of mine asked me if I would give her a letter of introduction. I said I would. When she came to the house to pick it up, I handed it to her in a sealed envelope. My husband tells me I committed a breach of etiquette by sealing the envelope. I would like to know if I was wrong?

A: You should have handed the letter to her unsealed and she then should have sealed it in your presence.

Reply to an Introduction

Q: When introduced to someone, is it acceptable in this present day of informality to reply "hello" instead of "how do you do"? The latter seems very stiff and unfriendly.

A: "How d'you do" is the conventional reply to an introduction. However, "hello" is quite acceptable in the present day, especially among those of the younger generation.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN T. FITZPATRICK

John T. Fitzpatrick and Mary Ann Kennedy Exchange Marriage Vows; Papal Blessing

Miss Mary Ann Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Kennedy, of 69 Prospect Street, this city, exchanged marriage vows with John Thomas Fitzpatrick, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Fitzpatrick Jr., of Saranac Lake, N. Y., and formerly of Poughkeepsie, on August 22 in St. Joseph's Church here.

The Rev. James V. Keating officiated at the Nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with white gladioli and bridal bows on the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white summer satin which was fashioned and made by her mother. It had a fitted bodice, Sabrina neckline and wide three-quarter length sleeves. The A-line skirt swept back into a small chapel train with a watteau panel. She also wore a mantilla veil of cream-ivory imported French lace and carried a cascade of white carnations and English ivy foliage.

Maid of honor was Miss Patricia Kennedy, sister of the bride. She wore a sleeveless gown of rose pink shantastik with a fitted bodice and Sabrina neckline. The floorlength gown featured a panel at the back with a bow at the waist. She also wore white opera length gloves, a short lace chapel veil made of the same lace as the bride's and carried a cascade of pink carnations and English ivy foliage.

Bridesmaids included Mrs. Robert DeDea of Kingston, Miss Maureen Dineley of Coxsackie, N. Y., Miss Mary Jane Hughes of New York City, and Miss Nicolina Martinisi of Newburgh, N. Y. They were attired exactly as the honor attendant and carried colonial bouquets of pink pompons and blue daisies.

James Daley was best man and ushering were Anthony Starpoli, Christian Starpoli, Michael Chiariatti, and Nate Vecchio, all of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. A reception was held in the White Eagle Hall immediately after the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of the Academy of St. Ursula and Mount Saint Mary College, Newburgh, N. Y. She has accepted a teaching position in the Kingston Schools Consolidated.

The bridegroom is a graduate of N. Y. Military Academy and West Lake College of Music, Hollywood, Calif. He is a senior at Marist College, majoring in physics, and is employed by IBM, Poughkeepsie. He is also a veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps.

Gem-Wise
Jewelry fashions, facts, fictions

Value of Jewels—

What makes for value in a gem? This is a question fine jewelers are often asked by their customers. Briefly, we may divide our answer into four parts: 1 - Beauty, 2 - Durability, 3 - Rarity, and 4 - Fashion.

Beauty of the stone is all-important. It is the main reason jewels have been a favored adornment since earliest times when primitive man fastened them to leather thongs so they could be worn as a girdle. Without beauty, the gem is of no interest except possibly to a collector or scientist.

Durability is essential because it means that a stone is hard and tough enough to resist wear so that it will retain its beauty through the years. Rarity will affect price since gems in copious supply must necessarily have a different market value than those that are extremely scarce. Fashion often dictates the popularity and desirability of a gem at a particular time. Leaders of society and women of national importance frequently set the current vogue for a gem by wearing it.

It is all of these factors, plus the Quality of each, that regulates the price per carat of every gemstone. However, smart, purchasers know that there are also certain gemological characteristics affecting value. Over the years, they have come to rely upon member firms in the American Gem Society to help them make a wise, enduring choice. Our firm is proud to be among them.

Hats in the "My Fair Lady" mood make millinery news this fall. Magical evening calot of shiny black satin (top left) is encircled by a brim of willowy ostrich feathers. In the dramatic black and white mood of the famed Ascot scene this turban (top center) has snood back detailing in zebra stripe stenciled on calf. Forward sloping hat of white mink (top right) has an oversized rounded visor and curled up brim. Delicate point d'esprit, highlighted with a streak of jet satin (lower left) pours from an open crown of black satin. A new helmet cap designed for evening wear (lower center) is given Fair Lady elegance by its original feather treatment. These are Lilly Dache designs. Large fly-away of white felt lower right by Sally Victor is faced with layers of delicate feathers.

List of Extension Courses at New Paltz State University Released for Fall Term

A total of 64 Extension Courses will be offered by the State University College, New Paltz, during the Autumn Quarter from September 29 through December 12, it was announced this week by Dr. Richard F. Klix, Chairman of the Graduate Division.

Information concerning these Extension Courses — including the times, dates, and places of class meetings — may be obtained by writing to the Graduate Office of the College. This information also has been sent to school principals throughout the state.

Registration must be completed by September 18, and Dr. Klix emphasized that no registration will be made until a student has been admitted to the College and has completed the registration procedures.

The courses will be offered on the New Paltz campus and in six other centers in this area. Class hours range from 5 to 7:35 p. m. and from 7 to 9:35 p. m. on Tuesday through Friday, and from 9 to 12 a. m. on Saturdays. The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Teen's 'Baffling Fluidity'

In the finest paper I know on adolescence, Dr. Jack L. Rubins, discussing the baffling "fluidity" of the teen-ager's attitudes says:

"Relationships with parents may change and where previously close, become distant, tinged with rebellion, resentment or contempt."

I offer this experienced observation to a reader who, mistakenly imagining that she has been singled out for persecution by adolescent criticism writes:

"Until now we have been a close-knit family. Within the past three months our daughter, 16, is so changed toward us that she is almost a stranger. My husband says this is due to the influence of some new friends she made this last term at school. They are so off-handed toward me as to be actually rude. But if I criticize the way they speak to me on the telephone, my daughter accuses me of rudeness to them. We know that this age is supposed to be hard on parents but . . ."

Knowing it because you read it or heard it is one thing, but experiencing it yourself is a very different kettle of fish.

It helps us very little to "know" about young people's "psychology." We can "know" about it until the cows come home and it still shocks and wounds us. So I want to suggest that the benefit of experiencing these shocks and wounds is that they begin to wean us from our dependence on the child's affection and admiration.

No matter how much we "love" him, the quality of our love for him changes, if we are healthy people, under the battery and assault of his compulsive criticism.

And that's just fine. His accusations are what are preparing us to tolerate his approaching break with the home we've made for him.

Thus, his emotional unreliability is a service to us. If we are healthy people, we begin to withdraw from our old dependence on "closeness" to him. We say to ourselves:

"O.K., child. We understand that you have to criticize us in order to make yourself feel competent to survive in the world without us. But we can play at this game, too. We can use your criticism of us to enlarge our own respect for our competence.

"And we can find more reliable sources for satisfaction than 'closeness' to you. Every day of our lives with you you are making this clearer and clearer. You're growing? All right. We can, too."

RFK Snaps Barry As He Initiates Senate Campaign

NEW YORK (AP)—Invoking the name of his late brother and declaring "I am against Barry Goldwater," Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has opened his campaign for a U.S. Senate seat from New York State.

He was to be up at dawn today for a handshaking tour of the Fulton Fish Market and Staten Island ferry terminal in lower Manhattan. Later in the day he was to bid for the support of organized labor in a speech to the state AFL-CIO convention.

At the Democratic convention, he won by 968 votes to 153 over his only opponent, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Amsterdam.

The Liberal Party's state committee, at a closed meeting Tuesday night, selected Kennedy by "an overwhelming majority," a party spokesman said. The party's state conference had recommended Kennedy, but there was backing for both Stratton and the incumbent Republican, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, 64, of Rochester, who will be Kennedy's chief opponent.

PM General to Be Speaker at Onion Harvest Festival

The small hamlet of Pine Island, less than two miles north of Orange County's Jersey border, offers a most unusual Labor Day weekend, Old World pageantry in a green amphitheatre punctuated by a Sunday afternoon address by the Postmaster General of the United States, John Austin Gronouski of Wisconsin. He will address the Orange County Onion Harvest Festival assemblage just before coronation of Geraldine Grohoski as Festival Queen.

The cabinet member's acceptance of the Pine Island festival invitation was related somewhat to the fact that, like almost all the onion farming families of the area, he has recent Polish ancestry. His particular host for the day will be Sylvester Krasniewicz, for 30 years postmaster at Pine Island's third class office, also is president of the Orange County Postmasters' Association. That organization will join with the festival committee in honoring the distinguished visitor with a giant cocktail party and buffet supper after the pageant.

Tours of the onion country will be conducted Saturday 9:30 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Sunday's festivities will start 10 a. m. with a motorcade to the pageant site at Pine Island. Pageant will start 3 p. m. Reception will be at 5 p. m. and the queen's ball at 8 p. m.

Acker Attending Atom Use Parley In Switzerland

Ernest R. Acker, former board chairman of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, is attending the Third International Conference on the Peaceful Uses of the Atom in Geneva, Switzerland this week.

The former utility executive, who serves as president of Empire State Atomic Development Associates (ESADA), is attending the Conference as an observer with the United States Delegation on invitation from Dr. Glen Seaborg, chairman of the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

The conference, which is being attended by the world's leading officials and scientists in the development and use of atomic energy for peacetime purposes, is being held from August 31 through September 9.

Acker, who retired in May as Central Hudson board chairman, served as president of the local utility from 1932 to 1960 and currently serves as a member of the Board of Directors and as a consultant. ESADA is a group of seven of New York State's investor-owned electric utilities sponsoring research and development on large scale, high-temperature nuclear reactors for the generation of electricity. In addition, Acker is also a director and a vice president of Power Reactor Development Company, a non-profit organization of utilities and manufacturers that built and is operating the pioneering Enrico Fermi Atomic Power Plant reactor in Monroe, Mich.

Slate Apple Meeting

A twilight fruit meeting will be held Thursday, Sept. 10, at 7 p. m. at the Hepworth Cold Storage Plant, Milton.

This pre-harvest apple meeting will hear Prof. Ben Dominick, who will present information on latest crop predictions by varieties and competing areas. Dr. M. B. Hoffman will give a report, based on Hudson Valley apple crop picture, on use of stop-drop hormone sprays.

Trouble on the Ohayo

Schmidt Purchases Shotgun To Protect Mountain Art; Also Fights Eviction Threat

The Old Man of the Ohayo Mountain is disturbed and angry today. He has purchased a shotgun and threatens to protect his controversial, fantastic sculpture by force, if necessary.

Clarence Schmidt, the bearded 66-year-old patriarch whose work of "art" is causing a great controversy and is currently entangled in the State Supreme Court and Appellate Division, tearfully told this reporter that continued harassment and vandalism have forced him to do something he had hoped to avert.

"I finally bought a shotgun and I'll sleep in my car to protect my art," he said, tears streaming down through his shaggy beard and shoulder-length hair. "I never thought I would have to resort to this, but I have no choice."

Schmidt reports that more than 40 objects of his art have been removed from the property and he hopes the shotgun will prove a deterrent to the vandals. Miss Ruth Sherman, a Lake Hill artist who sympathizes with Schmidt, said vandals have used axes, hammers, crowbars and hatchets to smash the 40 sculptures on the rim of the property on the Glenford side of the Ohayo Mountain.

Schmidt, meanwhile, is being represented by Woodstock and Albany Attorney Franklin P. Gavin in his fight to prevent eviction from the property which his cousin, Walter Helbig, claims he owns under a 1934 deed to him by Schmidt.

Gavin was obtained as counsel for Schmidt by J. Patrick Lannan, an investment banker and official of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company. Lannan had the Lannan Foundation, which aids poor artists, painters and writers hire Gavin. Marshall Lipton of Kingston is the lawyer for Helbig.

Helbig, the cousin, who opposes Schmidt's controversial art on the mountain, is a retired automobile mechanic who lives next door. He filed suit last fall to establish ownership under a 1934 deed. Schmidt, who claims the 1934 transaction was illegal, said he was too busy defending his property last April to enter a defense at a trial.

A judgement in default was taken against him.

Move Unsuccessful

Attorney Gavin said he had moved unsuccessfully to vacate the judgement and now was appealing to the Appellate Division, 3rd District in Albany. He also was urging Justice Lawrence H. Cooke not to hold Schmidt in contempt of court for not vacating the property.

Justic Cooke has presntly under advisement a motion for arrest of Schmidt for not vacating his home and removing all the artworks which were described in legal papers as "personal property and junk."

In his appeal, Attorney Gavin said Schmidt contended that the signatures on the 1934 deed appeared to be those of himself and his first wife, Susan, but they must have been obtained through deceit because he never intended to sign such a deed.

Seeks "Prescription"

Gavin also contends that the occupancy of property for 44 years, and certainly since 1934, entitles Schmidt to possession by "prescription." Schmidt came to the area 44 years ago from New York City.

Schmidt's present wife, Grace, does not share his belief and has built a modern house next door on land bought from Helbig. They have one son who lives with the mother.

Attorney Lipton says the ownership cliams of Schmidt are "plain nonsense."

Through all his travails with the law and vandals, there is one ray of sunshine for Schmidt. The recently completed memorial to President Kennedy was not molested.

Last spring vandals put dynamite in his "wishing well" and an Army bomb squad removed it before an explosion occurred.

Craft Exhibition Opens September 19

The Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen will present its 5th Annual Craft Exhibition and sale Sept. 19 through Oct. 11 at the Kleinert Gallery. There will be no admission charge.

The preview, which is by invitation only, will be held Sept. 18, following the annual shop board meeting at 8 p. m.

Robin Wetterau is the chairman of this year's show. Richard Drake and Hal Boyer are assisting him in making this another tremendous exhibition.

Triumphant Maverick Series Will Present Final Concert

The triumphant 1964 Maverick Summer Concert series will present the final concert of the summer Sunday. A newly-formed ensemble, The New York String Trio, will play the last recital of the season at 3 p. m. at Maverick Hall.

Though formed early this year, the trio of violinist Gerald Tarack, violist Harry Zaratzian, and cellist Alexander Kouguell has been proclaimed as a "new leader among the pioneers of chamber music." Many areas of chamber music have been neglected by chamber groups and this trio has been opening up new areas of listening since their debut in Town Hall. Performing everywhere with great compatibility, the trio is presently in residence at the State University of New York at Stony Brook.

Two of the musicians have been Maverick visitors in the past. Gerald Tarack, violinist, was heard in Woodstock with the Beaux-Arts String Quartet, an ensemble which he founded. He is concertmaster of most of New York's chamber orchestras and is a member of the New York Chamber Soloists. His accomplishments as a violinist include a tour of the Soviet Union with the Clarion Concerts and participation in the Casals festival in Puerto Rico.

The violist of the trio, Harry Zaratzian, has appeared at the Maverick with the world-renowned Kroll Quartet. A faculty member of the Marlboro School of Music and formerly principal violist with the Philadephia Orchestra, Zaratzian's playing will be an integral part of the trio's program.

The third member of the group, cellist Alexander Kouguell, is also a member of the New York Chamber Soloists. He has been principal soloist of the Muisca Aeterna and Festival and is a staff member of the Bennington Composers Conference in addition to his professorship at Queens College.

Their program will include trios by Boccherini and Bethoven and a Mozart Piano Quartet in Eb Major on which the trio will be assisted by pianist Earl Groves. Featured on the program will be a piece by Henry Cowell, noted and highly esteemed Woodstock composer, his Seven Paragraphs for String Trio.

Audiences are advised to arrive early for this exceptional final concert of the season as the last few concerts have been extremely well attended. Tickets are available at the door.

More Antiques Spur Interest In Colony Show

Antiques and more antiques is the way the final antiques show of the season appears to shape up at the Colony Arts Center on Rock City Road, Woodstock, starting Sept. 4 and continuing through Sept. 6.

Many of the dealers in the Colony show are exhibiting in the area for the first time, although they are well known in their own locality. The prospect meeting new customers and collectors combined with the opportunity to see Woodstock for the first time this Labor Day weekend was a lure for their coming. There will be a representation of antique dealers from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, western New York State, the Mohawk and Hudson valleys, as well as neighboring dealers who always somehow magically manage to have new wares of ancient vintage to catch the eye.

Some Rare Items

Since the word has got around that the dealers at the Colony Arts Center shows are as eager to buy antiques as sell them, several collections of treasures from individual sources have been offered for sale and some of the items will be seen at the show.

Emphasis will be on things that one can carry home in a car and put into immediate use. This includes a wide variety of wall decor, such as paintings, lithographs and photographs of the 19th century, glass, china, bric-a-brac, utensils, clocks, lamps, jewelry, funiture, fans, eccesiastical items from Europe, silver, and collectable for "the quiet corner" such as coins, stamps, stereoptican views, books, magazines, games, coffee and tea service, maps and memorabilia.

Dean's Antiques of Erie, Pa. will show an interesting example of a Victorian hobby: intricate designs made from small pieces of postage stamps appliqued on milk glass plates, an early forerunner of collage.

Legion Clambake

American Legion Post 1026 of Woodstock presents its popular clambake Sunday, Sept. 6, on the Legion grounds. Serving starts at 1 p. m. with the main bake at 4 p. m. The public is invited and tickets may be purchased at the bake.

Christian Science Theme Is About "Man"

States and stages of human progress will be explored in the Bible Lesson on "Man" at all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

Bible selections will include the following from Romans (ch. 12): "Be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include these lines (p. 296): "Progress is born of experience. It is the ripening of mortal man, through which the mortal is dropped for the immortal. Either here or hereafter, suffering or Science must destroy all illusions regarding life and mind, and regenerate material sense and self. The old man with his deeds must be put off."

Sunday services and Sunday school in Woodstock are held at 11 a. m.

Connecticut Dentist Settles in Woodstock

Dr. and Mrs. Jerome Miller of Westport, Conn., have purchased land on the Ohayo Mountain Road and are now having a home built there.

Having visited Woodstock several times this summer, and being so impressed with its beauty, the Millers decided to make it their permanent home.

Dr. Miller, a former professor at the Dental College of New York University, is a dentist who practices in New York City and at present lives in Westport, Conn. He has lectured both in the United States and foreign countries and is the author of a book on dentistry. He will probably do some practicing at his home in Woodstock.

The land was purchased and the dwelling erected through Dircks and Kalish, local realtors.

Poetry Reading Slated Friday In Art Gallery

Another special event arranged by the Woodstock Artists Association, for Friday, Sept. 4, as part of their cultural program has a strong appeal for those who enjoy poetry.

The poetry of Gerard Manley Hopkins will be read by Robert Paton, who is well known in educational circles both locally and elsewhere. Also listed on the program is Gerd Stern, who will read his own original poetry.

Both Paton and Stern give poetry readings in schools and colleges, presenting contemporary as well as better known and more familiar works. The writing of Gerard Manley Hopkins is becoming read locally through the enthusiasm of those who enjoy the work. Most of the selections have a mystical quality, a mysticism drawn from nature.

The readings will take place in the Woodstock Art Gallery at 8:30 p. m.

Faces Rape Charge In First Degree

A Dutchess County man was arrested Tuesday by Fishkill State Police on a first degree rape charge involving a Hudson River State Hospital patient.

Troopers said William Smith, 40, of Purse Lane, Hopewell Junction, waived preliminary examination before Justice of the Peace Robert Alley, Town of East Fishkill. He was committed to the Dutchess County jail without bail to await grand jury action.

According to Fishkill troopers, Smith allegedly picked up the woman patient and took her to his home where the alleged act was committed.

Big Deal

DALLAS, N. C. (AP)—George Cox complained to Dallas town officials that he was overcharged for taxes. Town Clerk J. J. Moore checked and said, "That's right. We overcharged him." Moore then asked the Town Board to pass a motion authorizing a refund. A few days later, Cox received the refund: Fifty cents.

Incident on Welk Show Reveals Fan Clubs Handy

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It was Saturday night at the Hollwyood Palladium, where an orderly crowd of nicely dressed dance-lovers were moving to the strains of Lawrence Welk's orchestra — except when the maestro was on the stand. Then they tended to cluster near the stage to watch him wave his baton.

Half-way through the evening, Welk escorted to the microphone an attractive, well-dressed young woman and introduced her informally to the ballroom crowd as Mary Lee Schaefer, national president of the Lawrence Welk Fan Club. There was a round of applause.

Later Mrs. Schaefer described her duties, which sometimes keep her occupied from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Primarily, it involves mail. Club members pay 50 cents dues and are entitled to an autographed color picture of their idol and club bulletins that keep them informed of Welk's activities.

Recently the club had its annual picnic in Los Angeles and over 1,000 turned up. Many were from distant points because Welk fans often plan vacation trips to include the outing.

Mrs. Schaefer resolutely refused to estimate the membership in the fan club, but Welk's public relations man said the television star has a Christmas card mailing list of 207,000 names. The club president, the wife of a Los Angeles grocer, estimates that she receives anywhere from 15 to 75 letters a day.

She is experienced in the fan club business, she said, because she ran one several years ago for Frank Sinatra and, more recently, for Roberta Linn, an early Welk "champagne lady."

Fan clubs are very handy organizations for performers. One young singer estimated it cost him about $25,000 a year to finance his — he paid, as do the others, for the bulletins, pictures, printing and mailing costs plus personnel to handle the traffic — but found it worthwhile.

Dies of Pneumonia Following Broken Leg

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A 29-year-old man died at a hospital Tuesday of pneumonia contracted after he was admitted with a broken leg he suffered in a fall Friday at an exhibition football game, the Erie County medical examiner's office said.

The victim was Robert Kerr of Buffalo.

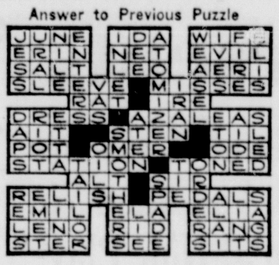

The medical examiner's office said Kerr fell on a concrete ramp at War Memorial Stadium during a pre-season American Football League game between the Buffalo Bills and Boston Patriots.

Collision Kills Two, Three Hurt at Tioga

TIOGA CENTER, N. Y. (AP) —Two youths were killed and three other persons were injured Tuesday night in the collision of an automobile and the detached cab of a tractor-trailer on Route 17, about a mile east of this Tioga County community.

Kenneth Zorn, 13, and Glenn Evelin, 19, both of Tioga Center and passengers in the car, died at the scene, the county sheriff's office reported.

The other two occupants of the car, Harold Horton, 19, and Steve Vanderpool, 29, both also of Tioga Center, were in critical condition at Tioga General Hospital in Waverly. Linn Rosenzweig of nearby Campville, driver of the truck, was in fair condition.

Sheriff's deputies said the car, traveling west, veered into the opposite lane and was struck broadside by the truck cab. All five persons were thrown from their vehicles.

Injured at Copake

Injured in a one-car accident last week at Copake, Steve Strutt of Brooklyn, died yesterday in Columbia Memorial Hospital, Hudson. He was the ninth victim of highway accidents in Columbia County in the last 30 days. Strutt was injured when he lost control of his car on Route 22, left the pavement and hit a tree. Two passengers were treated at the hospital and released.

U. S. Olympic Bridge Coach Is Due Here for Sectional Play

Edgar Kaplan Will Compete

Area contract bridge players will have the opportunity to watch and play against one of the world's great players and teachers at the Mid-Hudson Valley Sectional Tournament to be held at the armory in Kingston on September 18-19-20.

Edgar Kaplan, coach of the United States Olympic Contract Bridge team will participate in all events over the 3-day tourney according to I. H. (Laddie) Wheatcroft, leading Hudson Valley tournament director. Mrs. Edgar Kaplan, also one of the top players in the tourney field, will accompany her husband and play through the tourney.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheatcroft, Joan Madden and Lewis Amster are defending champions in the Open Teams event.

Praised By Exprets

Kaplan is co-author of the Kaplan-Sheinwold System of winning Bridge. Sam Stayman, one of the world's top contract bridge experts, says of Kaplan in writing the introduction of the new Kaplan book: "With its publication, he places himself even more surely than before among the world's best bridge writers."

EDGAR KAPLAN

It is expected that the presence of Kaplan will aid in attracting the largest field of tourney players ever to participate in competition in the Mid-Hudson event.

Another feature of Kaplan's appearance in Kingston will be a Bridge Forum which he will conduct Saturday, Sept. 19, at the armory from 11:30 to 1 p. m. when he will lecture on contract bridge and will answer questions from the floor. There will be no charge for this forum and the public is invited.

Local Benefit

Throughout the tournament, Kaplan will autograph copies of his new book "Winning Contract Bridge Complete" for those who purchase it. Copies of the book will be available to the tourney and are being sold for the benfit of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health. The refreshment stand during the three-day event will also be operated by the Mental Health group.

Wheatcroft has announced the tournament schedule as follows: Friday afternoon, Individual; Friday evening, Mixed Pairs; Saturday afternoon and evening, Open Pairs; Sunday afternoon, Men's and Women's Pairs; Sunday evening, Team of Four.

The tourney has the approval of the American Contract Bridge League. Master Points and trophies will be awarded for all events.

Anyone desiring information concerning the tournament may call I. H. Wheatcroft or Harry Thayer at Station WGHQ.

Randall, Hughes B. Van Aken Vie In 54-Hole Play

Now in its third year, the Kingston Area Round Robin golf championship will present its first "dream match" on Saturday, Sunday and Labor Day.

The 54-hole contest will bring together for the first time area golf's famed Big Three—Leon Randall of Wiltwyck, George Hughes of the Twaalfskill Club and Bill Van Aken of Woodstock Country Club in head to head competition.

The series open Saturday at 9:30 a. m. at Wiltwyck, then goes to Twaalfskill Sunday at 9 a. m. and concludes Labor Day starting at 9 a. m. at Woodstock.

Club Champions

The trio qualified for the playoff and a shot at the Schneider Trophy by winning their respective club champions. Randall captured the inaugural event in 1962 and Harvey Bostic made it two straight for Wiltwyck last year.

Hughes will represent Twaalfskill for the third straight year, while Van Aken goes for the second time for Woodstock. Herb Waterous was Woodstock's representative in 1962.

There will be a change in scoring format this year, with only one point being charged against a golfer who loses a hole. In the past two years, the difference in scores on each hole figured in the running total.

The revised scoring system, popularly known as the Palm Beach round robin, goes something like this:

A golfer shoots 4, B golfer 5 and C golfer 6. At the end of the hole A golfer is plus 2, B golfer even and C golfer is minus 2. Under the old system, A would be plus 3, B even and C minus 3. The scores are cumulative, plus or minus, through the 54 holes of play.

Another change is the three daily rounds of 18-hole. In previous years, the contestants played 36 holes on Sunday and the final 18 holes on Labor Day.

The new schedule is expected to create greater interest at the respective clubs and ease the strain of the golfers, who have been engaged in intensive activity in recent days.

Name Jack Symes III To Olympic Cycling

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Simes III, who won the National Cycling Championship last week, won a berth on the U.S. Olympic cycling squad Tuesday by sweeping two straight races in a best-of-3 final series in the two-lap match race from Sam Zietlin of New York.

The 21 year-old Simes, of Westwood, N.J., and a 1960 Olympian, defeated Zietlin, with times of 3:26 and 2:34.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics recalled 15 minor league players Tuesday, including eight on the roster of their Triple A Dallas farm club of the Pacific Coast League.

Killebrew's 2 HR's Rip Orioles

Accounts for 2-1 Twins' Win Over Baltimore

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a Punch and Judy show in the American League.

Harmon Killebrew played Punch. The Chicago White Sox played Judy.

Killebrew gave American League leading Baltimore the old one-two Monday night, hammering his 43rd and 44th homers for both Minnesota runs in a 2-1 victory over the Orioles.

The White Sox, meanwhile, swung like girls against Mickey Lolich, who played ring-a-round-a-rosie with the punchless Chicagoans, pitching six hitless innings before winding up with a three-hit, 8-0 victory.

And when the show was over, the Orioles still held their one-half game lead over the White Sox.

Killebrew, who hadn't hit a homer in 14 games, tied the score 1-1 in the fourth when he smashed a drive 415 feet over the left field fence. Then, in the sixth, Killebrew applied the knockout blow, a 405-foot shot over the same fence. Both homers came off Steve Barber.

6 Hitless Innings

At the same time, Lolich had the White Sox dangling. Bringing his record to 14-7 with his fifth straight victory, the 23-year-old left-hander did not allow a hit until Al Weis grounded a single to left leading off the seventh.

The only other hits off Lolich were singles by Camilo Carreon in the eighth and Pete Ward in the ninth.

The losses by the leaders enabled the third-place New York Yankees to climb within two games of the top. The defending champions whipped Los Angeles 4-1, despite the presence of the Angels' $200,000 bonus baby, Rick Reichardt, in the lineup.

Poor Debut

Reichardt, making his major league debut in center field, struck out, fouled out twice and lined out in four trips and was unable to flag down Clete Boyer's long drive that went for a two-run triple and capped the Yankees' decisive four-run sixth inning uprising.

Elsewhere, Sam McDowell and Don McMahon combined on a six-hit shutout as Cleveland blanked Washington 3-0 and Boston edged Kansas City 3-2 on a homer by Lee Thomas.

Killebrew's homers wiped out a 1-0 Baltimore lead built in the first inning on an error, a wild pitch and Brooks Robinson's double. Robinson's double was the only hit allowed by Twins' starter Jim Kaat, 15-7, until the eighth when John Orsino singled and Bob Johnson doubled.

When Kaat went to a two-ball, no-strike count on Jackie Brandt, Al Worthington came on in relief and snuffed out the Orioles' threat. He got Brandt to pop straight up to the catcher, then bore down and struck out Luis Aparicio.

Lolich had an easier task. Before the White Sox had collected their first hit, he had a 5-0 lead on Don Wert's three-run homer off Ray Herbert in the second inning and Jerry Lumpe's two-run, inside-the-park job in the fifth inning.

Lumpe's low liner went for a homer when Floyd Robinson fell heavily to the ground while attempting a diving catch. Robinson landed on his head and suffered a temporary paralysis of the arms, but indications were that he would be back in the line-up tonight.

Yankees In Rally

The Yankees broke a scoreless tie in the sixth by battering George Brunet for five hits. Singles by Pedro Gonzalez, Mickey Mantle and Elston Howard produced the first run. Hec Lopez brought in the second with a sacrifice fly before Boyer wrapped it up.

Al Downing, 11-7, got the victory with a six-hitter, allowing the Angels only run in the seventh on singles by Lou Clinton, Tom Satriano and Bobby Knoop.

The Indians got the only run they needed for their 10th victory in the last 11 games when Vic Davalillo smacked a leadoff homer in the fifth inning off Frank Kreutzer. McMahon came on when McDowell faltered in the seventh and pitched hitless ball the rest of the way.

Nelson Mathews' two-run homer gave the A's a 2-0 lead in the first but Red Sox pitcher Jack Lamabe singled a run home in the second and Carl Yastrzemski's run - producing single tied it in the fourth. Thomas' homer in the seventh snapped the tie and Dick Radatz came on to protect the lead.

Leaders Nip Houston

Allen and Callison Making Mauch Happy

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Richie Allen doesn't care about being the National League's top rookie and Johnny Callison wonders whether he's worthy of being the Most Valuable Player. But together, they may make Gene Mauch Manager of the Year.

Mauch's reluctant dragons lifted the Phillies to a 4-3 victory over the Houston Colts Tuesday night, keeping Philadelphia 5½ games in front of Cincinnati which nipped Chicago 2-1 behind Jim Maloney's 13 strikeouts.

Hal (Skinny) Brown and Jim Bunning were locked in a scoreless pitcher's duel through six innings with Brown working on a two-hitter. Callison led off the seventh and tagged a one-strike pitch for his 24th homer. Before the inning was over, Wes Covington and Frank Thomas also had homered and, with Bunning breezing, the 3-0 lead looked safe.

When Allen whacked a Dick Farrell pitch to the 447-foot sign in deep center and raced around the bases for an inside-the-park homer in the eighth, it merely looked like window dressing.

Bunning Survives

But Bunning ran into trouble in the ninth. Nellie Fox and Al Spangler singled and two outs later, Joe Gaines clubbed a three-run homer, narrowing the lead to 4-3. But the Perfect Game hero bore down getting Carroll Hardy to end it.

Elsewhere in the NL, St. Louis moved into third place with a 5-4 victory over Milwaukee and New York dropped the Giants to fourth 2-1. Pittsburgh dropped Los Angeles 5-2.

"Rookie of the Year doesn't mean a thing," says Allen. "Let them put a $1000 up for it and it would be worthwhile." The rookie star also has been mentioned for MVP honors but scoffs at that thought too.

"If they do things right," he says, "they'll give that one to Johnny Callison. He deserves it. He's had more clutch hits than anyone in the league."

It was Callison, who hasn't been too happy with his contribution to the Phillies' pennant express, who broke the spell against Brown Tuesday night. "It's about time I started doing something," he said recently. His homer started the Phillies' three-run surge.

Covington's 13th homer followed Callison's shot and one out later, Thomas added his No. 8. Allen's homer was his 25th.

Opens With Roar

Maloney struck out seven of the first nine Cubs he faced and limited Chicago to just three hits. Leo Cardenas' run-scoring single in the fourth broke the tie and beat Ernie Broglio.

Al Jackson hurled a nifty six-hitter and Joe Christopher drove in two runs with a bases-loaded double for the Mets. San Francisco unveiled Masanori Murakami, the first Japanese national to play in the major leagues. The left-handed pitcher hurled one inning, striking out two and allowing one hit.

Bob Uecker singled home the winning run in the ninth inning for the Cardinals victory. The Braves chased 16-game winner Ray Sadecki with a four-run third but reliever Ron Taylor blanked them over the last six innings to pick up the victory.

Pittsburgh struck for three runs in the seventh inning giving Bob Friend his 11th victory against 15 defeats. The rally broke a 2-2 tie with the Dodgers. Willie Stargell's 18th homer of the year started the surge.

Saugerties Legion Routs Locals, 10-5

Pitcher Joe Maines pitched shutout ball after the first inning to pace Saugerties American Legion in defeating the Kingston Legion 10-5, at Cantine Memorial field.

Saugerties routed Kingston Vince Carpouzis with six runs in the fourth inning. Wiands relieved Carpouzis and then yielded the final three runs in the fifth inning.

Manager Al Sonneberg and Vince Carpino had two RBIs each for Kingston. All the Saugerties players collected at least one hit. The return game is scheduled Sunday, Sept. 27, at Dietz stadium.

Singing Suzanne 4-Length Winner

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y. (AP) — Singing Suzanne, the favorite, scored a four-length victory Tuesday in the $1,300 feature at Finger Lakes Race Track. The victory was the third straight for the seven-year-old mare.

Kayroman was second and Singing By third in the 5½-furlong race.

Singing Suzanne, with Rodney Creedon up, was timed in 1:07 3-5 and paid $5.40, $3.50 and $2.40.

A crowd of 3,023 wagered $167,853 at the pari-mutuels.

Sailing Title Near for Edler

WINTHROP, Mass. (AP) — Don Edler of Newport Harbor, Calif., remained 12 points in the lead for the world's championship of the International Star Class Tuesday when he finished third in the third race.

The race was won by Malin Burnham of San Diego, Calif., with his Chatterbox scoring a five-second win over Gary Comer, sailing Turmoil of the Southern Lake Michigan Fleet.

It was Burnham's second win in a row although he finished 16th in Sunday's opener.

Edler, on a record of a first, second and third, has 162 points. Burnham moved into second place with 150. Tied for third are defending champion Joe Duplin of Winthrop, sailing Star of the Sea V, and Foster Clarke of Nassau in Creepy V, at 146 each.

Tuesday's top 10 were 1, Malin Burnham, San Diego, Calif. 2. Gary Comer, Southern Michigan. 3, Don Edler, Newport Harbor, Calif. 4, Stig Wennerstrom, Vinga, Sweden. 5, Skip Etchells, old Greenwich, Conn. 6, Foster Clarke, Nassau. 7 Gerd Fischer, Hamburg, Germany. 8, Howard Lipincott, Easton, Md. 9, Pete Bennett, San Diego, Calif. 10, Jack Stewart, Ithaca, N.Y.

Former Stars Getting Axed in Football Shuffle

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two key members of the American Football League's first championship club and a pair of veteran National Football League running backs are among the latest victims of the pro grid game's Big Knife.

NFL and AFL teams, counting down to mid-September season kickoffs and cutting down rosters to reach next week's final player limits, sent a number of well-known players packing Tuesday in the next-to-last trimming session.

Bill Groman and Hogan Wharton, who starred for Houston's 1960 AFL title team, lost their jobs; so did eight-year NFL vet Tom Wilson and three-year man Pervis Atkins.

The Denver Broncos released Groman, an all-league end at Houston in 1960; the Oilers cut Wharton, an offensive guard who has been sidelined with an injured leg; the Minnesota Vikings axed fullback Wilson and the Los Angeles Rams cut halfback Atkins.

American League rosters were trimmed to 38 men plus rookies who played in the All-Star game at Chicago last month. NFL teams got down to 43 men plus players injured in the All-Star game who have not yet recovered. Next Tuesday, the AFL must reach the regular season limit of 34 and the NFL, 40.

Other prominent AFL casualties were offensive tackle Rich Michael, Oilers, former all-league defensive back Bob Zeman and ball carrier Dick Christy, New York Jets, quarterback Don Breaux, offensive end Tom Rychlec and defensive back Billy Atkins, Broncos, and offensive guard Dave Behrman, Buffalo Bills.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

BATTING — Harmon Killebrew, Twins, supplied both Minnesota runs with his 43rd and 44th homers in a 2-1 victory over American League leading Baltimore.

PITCHING — Mickey Lolich, Tigers, pitched hitless ball for six innings and wound up with three-hit, 8-0 triumph over Chicago that left the second-place White Sox one-half game behind the Orioles.

New Japanese Pitcher Excels In NL Debut

NEW YORK (AP — Where else would the major league's first Japanese player make his debut but at New York's Shea Stadium against the Mets?

And who else would be the first batter to face him but a fellow named Smith?

And who else but Met fans would give a visitor from 9,000 miles away such a warm welcome that for a moment the youngster must have thought he was back home in Otsuki, Japan?

Thus history of a kind was made when Masanori Murakami, a 20-year-old left-handed pitcher, only a little more than a year away from high school in Japan, struck out Charley Smith on four pitches.

Murakami, brought up by the San Francisco Giants from their Fresno farm club Tuesday night, had hardly been introduced to his new teammates when Manager Al Dark summoned him from the bullpen to pitch the eighth inning against the Mets.

Showed Poise

The Giants lost 4-1 but the youngster, pitching with poise and control, permitted only one hit — a single by Chris Cannizzaro — as he retired the side without a score, striking out two batters.

As Murakami, with a spring in his gait and a wad of chewing gum in his mouth, strode toward the Giant dugout, Met fans stood up and cheered. Organist Jane Jarvis got into the swing of things, playing "The Japanese Sandman."

Next seen, the youngster was facing the television cameras outside the Giant clubhouse, explaining through an interpreter, that he wasn't at all nervous in his big league debut.

"It felt good," he said. "I struck out first batter with fast ball. Other with curve. The hit was off screwball. But other screwball I threw was strike."

"I think he's going to help us," said Dark. "He's got a good fast ball, a good curve and outstanding control. He throws strikes. He doesn't overpower the hitter but he's deceptively fast.

Sinclair Team Pro-Am Champs

Alex Sinclair, Mohawk Golf Club pro and the club's leading amateur, Roy Peters, captured the 1964 Northeastern New York PGA Pro-Amateur title in three extra holes.

They defeated John Kellar, Berkshire Hills pro and amateur George Kirk after the two teams had tied with 3-under-par 104's in the 27-hole championship at Shaker Ridge in Loudonville.

Sinclair's team, after nines of 34-36-34, reeled off three straight pars, while Kellar and Kirk bogied the difficult third hole. The second team had fashioned 34-34-36.

Other leaders were:

Guy Farina and Tony Maragno, Caroga Lake, 106; Jack Maxwell, Stamford, and Russell Bates, 106; Chuck Kubier, Burden Lake, and Bill Berner, 107; Ed Kroll, Cooperstown, and Doug Patterson, 107; Chick Moxon, Pontoosuc, and Walter Kubica, 107; Claude Young, Winding Brook, and Bill DeMars, 108; Bob Mix, Albany Country Club, and John Hansen, 108; Ed Schultz, Troy, and Emil McKay, 108; Tom Toski, Waconah, and Joe Mullarkey, 108.

First Feature For Bie Rythm

MONTICELLO — Bie Rhythm overtook pace setting Trishaine just before the finish to win last night's feature race, a two-year-old pace at Monticello Raceway.

Driven by Frank Popfinger, the Direct Rhythm bay filly, owned by the Breezeaway Stable of Monticello, went the mile in 2:11.3 in capturing her first career win.

Sent off as the 9-5 second choice, Bie Rhythm paid $5.80, $4.00 and $3.10. Trishaine held on for second to pay $7.30 and $4.20 while Senator's Splendor was third at $4.00.

Lolich Likes Spoiler Role

CHICAGO (AP) — Mickey Lolich is a youngster who shuns no-hitters but has notched a claim to fame as a spoiler in the tight American League pennant race.

The Detroit southpaw who will not be 24 until Sept. 12 dampened Chicago's pennant hopes with a three-hit shutout Tuesday night as the Tigers kayoed the White Sox, 8-0.

Through the first six innings Lolich had a no-hitter. He lost it in the seventh when Al Weis led off with a base hit into left field.

"I knew it was going to happen," said Lolich who admitted he was aware of the no-hitter from the very start. "It was merely a question of when they would get it. It was a strike and a good pitch. I thought he'd be taking the first pitch but he hit it.

"Look, I don't want any part of a no-hitter," said the youngster who had a 5-9 record with the Tigers as a rookie last year. "I think no-hitters are a jinx. Sure, if I had one going and I got it, I'd accept it. Then I'd probably say I'm the happiest guy in the world. But I'd rather take my victories this way, nice and easy with shutout pitching."

Lolich's performance, which gained him his 14th victory in 21 decisions, was somewhat surprising since he hadn't pitched in nearly two weeks and was coming off a short stint with the Michigan National Guard.

"How do I feel about beating the Sox who want to win a pennant? Just great. If they want to win let them do it at someone else's expense, not mine," said Lolich.

Saari Pointing For Third Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy Saari, the tireless, 19-year-old water wizard of El Segundo, Calif., guns for his third berth on the U.S. Olympic swimming team today and he doesn't have to worry about cutting out other hopefuls from the trip to Tokyo.

So far there have been six double berth winners — three men and three girls — in the record-smashing trials at the Astoria Pool.

But Uncle Sam's swim officials, determined to stack up the greatest team ever for Tokyo's Olympics, have decided to fill in the team of 38 men and 31 women to the limit allowed.

Thus, there is hope for those who have been taking steady beatings from Saari, Sharon Stouder, Donna de Varona, Don Schollander, Carl Robie and Kathy Ellis, all double makers of the team.

Saari, winner of the 400-meter freestyle and second in the 400-meter individual medley, was heavily favored to take the 1,500-meter freestyle today.

The 6-foot-2, 190-pounder was a loafing fourth in the qualifying heats Tuesday in 17:25.7. The top man was Bill Farley, 19, of Michigan in 17:17.8. Saari holds the listed world record of 17:05.5 but Australia's Murray Rose has sliced it to 17:01.8.

John Nelson, 15-year-old comet from Pompano Beach, Fla., who made the team in the 400 free, was second in 17:19.5. He seems a cinch to join the two-place club.

Also on today's program are the men's 100-meter butterfly and women's 100-meter breaststroke. These are special events to qualify the first two in each for the Olympic relay teams.

Miss Stouder became the first double winner of the trials Tuesday with a time of 1:05.7 in the 100-meter butterfly that bettered the listed world record.

Holland's Ada Kok holds the listed mark of 1:06.1 and a pending mark of 1:05.1. Sharon, a 15-year-old, blue-eyed blonde from Glendora, Calif., has a time of 1:05.4 up for recognition.

Stan Musial Reported Fair After Collapse in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial, whose baseball feats and stamina helped make him the nation's physical fitness director, collapsed of "complete exhausation" at Busch Stadium Tuesday night.

Musial, 43, a St. Louis Cardinal vice president after 22 years with the National League team, became ill at the game with Milwaukee and was helped to the Cardinal clubhouse. There, he staggered and collapsed into the arms of former teammates.

An ambulance, escorted by several police cars, sped him to Jewish Hospital in the city's mid-town medical complex on the edge of Forest Park. He was hospitalized, and a physician would remain "at least several days."

"He was completely dehydrated by the time he reached the hospital," said Dr. I. C. Middleman, the Cardinals' and Musial's physician. "At times he was irrational."

Asked if Musial's condition was serious, Dr. Middleman said, "No, I don't think so — although it could become serious." His blood pressure is all right and he is rational now."

The all-time Cardinal great, who holds more batting records than any player in the league's 88-year history, was suffering from "viral enteritis" which drained his strength, the physician said.

Victim of Fatigue

Dr. Middleman said Musial's condition possibly could have been caused by the heavy demands on his time in recent months. The good natured Musial — idol of millions of American youngsters — had been on the go almost constantly since last fall.

When he retired as an active player in September 1963, Musial was named a Cardinal vice-president. Then, on February 14, President Johnson appointed him director of the National Physical Fitness Program, saying no better man was qualified to set an example.

Friends had noted recently that the handsome, left-handed slugger with the ready grin — fans called him The Man — appeared tired. But he remained cheerful as always.

"The demands on Stan's time has been tremendous," said Dr. Middleman, "and this entered into his general condition."

The team physician, a long-time personal friend of Musial, said treatment included intravenous injection.

"We are trying to get some fluid back into his system and to get him back into balance," Dr. Middleman said. "He is rational now but he's as weak as you might expect after something like this. If he responds well, we will give him a thorough gastro-intestinal check Wednesday."

Has Many Records

Musial and his wife, Lillian, have three daughters and a son. The son and a daughter are married, and the Musials became grandparents for the first time while Stan was still swinging late last summer. The Man celebrated the occasion by hitting a home run.

Among Musial's major league baseball records are most lifetime total bases, 6,134; most long hits, lifetime, 1,377 and most home runs in a doubleheader, 5. He also shares a flock of major league records including most home runs in consecutive times at bat.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than legal minimum wages or pay wage differentials based on sex. Most employes engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 40 in a week. Beginning September 3, 1964, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 42 in a week. The Act also requires equal pay for equal work for men and women. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act, call or write the U. S. Labor Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y., 10452 WYandotte 2-1235.

Fire Damage Is $140,000

LACKAWANNA, N. Y. (AP) —Fire, fed by thousands of new tires and hundreds of old theater seats, spread Tuesday through a warehouse in this Erie County city. Damage was estimated at $140,000.

The 2½-story building once was a movie theater. It now is owned by the Eastern Tire Co.

Weather Forecast Until Tuesday

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecasts, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from 7 a.m. Thursday to 7 a.m. Tuesday:

Eastern New York—Temperatures will average around normal or higher, and rainfall will be light and spotty. Some scattered shower activity is likely late Friday or Saturday through the weekend.

Western New York—Temperatures will average near normal with a warming trend early in the period and cooler weather Sunday or Monday. Rainfall will average one or two-tenths of an inch in light showers over the weekend.

Temperature normals — Daytime highs 72 to 79. Nighttime lows 52 to 59.

Will Move to Limit Apportionment Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen says he plans to move — possibly Friday — to limit a renewal of debate on his proposal to delay court-ordered reapportionment of state legislatures.

The proposal was introduced by Dirksen and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield as a rider to the $3.3-billion foreign aid authorization bill.

The Senate has put it aside temporarily to debate a Social Security bill. Dirksen says he expects action on that to be completed by Friday. He will then file a petition to invoke the cloture rule to limit debate if he can arrange for a vote on it next Wednesday.

"We can't just go on and on with this talk," Dirksen said.

Boy, 3, With Asthma Rescued From 90-Ft. Well; Had Oxygen

FREMONT, Calif. (AP) — A 3-year-old asthmatic boy who fell 25 feet down an abandoned dry well was rescued Tuesday night, "scratched up and a little wild-eyed" but otherwise unhurt after three hours.

A crowd of more than 100 cheered as Fremont policeman Duayne Watson, 26, pulled Jerry Bettencourt from the foot-wide, 90-foot deep well with two ropes.

The boy had been breathing with the aid of an oxygen tube lowered to the bit of rock where he was wedged. He was taken to Washington Township Hospital for 24-hour observation. He was said to be in good condition.

"He'd begin to cry a little while I was fishing for him and I'd talk to him," said Watson. "I got a nylon cord to him and jerked on it until I had it around his wrist."

Eased to Surface

With the young victim's help, a second rope was secured to his other wrist and Jerry was eased to the surface.

Jerry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary George Bettencourt, tumbled into the well about a half-block from his home after he and two playmates removed a cement-filled bucket that covered the opening.

The other boys ran to tell Mrs. Bettencourt, 24, who said, "My heart just broke.

"I ran to the well and said 'Jerry, are you down there?' Then I ran to call my husband.

"I stayed for the first half hour while they tried to get him out, but then I couldn't take it any longer."

The boy was pulled from the well as rescue workers sank a parallel shaft six feet away. His father, a 25-year-old heavy equipment operator, stood by with the boy's grandfather and two Catholic priests.

Mother Prays

"I prayed all the time he was down there," said Mrs. Bettencourt. "I remembered when that little girl Kathy (Fiscus) fell in a well and died. I was just 9 then, but I said rosaries for three days for her."

Three-year-old Kathy Fiscus fell into a 95-foot well in 1949 in San Marino, Calif. Rescuers worked for two days as the nation waited for news, but she was dead when they finally reached her.

A physican who descended the shaft to reach her said she apparently died only a few hours after falling.

In 1957 Benjamin Hooper Jr., 7, was rescued alive after 23½ hours in a 24-foot deep well in Manorville, N.Y.

Daniel Heads Times

NEW YORK (AP) — Clifton Daniel, 51, son-in-law of former President Harry S. Truman, has been named managing editor of the New York Times.

Taghkanic Farm Barn Is Leveled By $100,000 Fire

A large barn on the Berkshire Turkey Farm in Taghkanic, Columbia County, was destroyed by fire Tuesday, killed more than 20,000 holiday turkeys. The loss was estimated at $100,000.

Fire officials reported the blaze may have been started by a bolt of lightning. The fire destroyed about one-third of the firms 60,000 turkey population, reported to be the largest in the state.

The turkeys were being raised for the Christmas-New Year holiday season.

Answers Your Insurance Questions

QUESTION: I always thought an endorsement to an insurance policy had to be attached to the policy but the past several years our agency has just mailed us a separate piece of paper. Is this all right?

ANSWER: Perfectly all right and standard practice. Keep the endorsements in an envelope with your policy or staple them to the policy itself.

This public service is our way of advertising. Your insurance questions will be answered without charge or obligation if you'll send or bring them to
